Gemini 4 in Orbit for 4-Day Flight

Titan 2 Blastoff Perfect, Pair to Land on Monday

BULLETIN

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Command pilot James McDivitt decided today to put off astronaut Edward White's stroll space until the third orbit. It had been scheduled for the second orbit. The Hawaii tracking station said McDivitt apparently decided things were a bit too rushed.

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White II soared into orbit today to start one of man's most exciting adventures — an intended four-day flight during which White planned to emerge into the emptiness of space near another orbiting satellite.

The marathon flight could be one of the most spectacular and significant in the space age and give the United States a lead in at least one phase of the race to the moon. "Beautiful! Beautiful!" were the first words to come down from the space ship as it soared into orbit.

As Gemini 4 whirled above the Carnarvon, Australia, tracking station 50 minutes after launch, the Mission Control Center at Houston, Tex., gave them a go-ahead for at least three of their planned 62 circuits.

This was the first of nine critical "go-no go" decisions scheduled for the mission. The others were set for orbits, 3, 5, 16, 20, 31, 35, 46 and 50.

As the great Titan 2 booster rocket drilled the Gemini 4 spacecraft on the start of its long ride, McDivitt reported to Mission Control Center: "It looks great up here."

Minutes later, the 7,600-pound spacecraft was in an orbit ranging from 100 to 176 miles above the earth. This was precisely the orbital path intended.

The target satellite for White's planned excursion into space was the burned-out second stage of the rocket. The stage followed a few hundred feet behind the capsule in orbit.

McDivitt, as command pilot, twisted the bell-shaped space ship around 180 degrees to take a look at the booster stage and to align the capsule in formation with it.

He radioed that the huge booster stage was tumbling.

Near the end of the second orbit—about 1:16 p.m. (Winona time)—McDivitt was to maneuver Gemini 4 to within 25 feet of the stage. Then, in a page out of science fiction, White planned to open a hatch and leave the spacecraft, using a "space gun propulsion unit," to maneuver close to the target.

He was to photograph it and other space objects.

Space agency officials had said before the flight that White might even attempt to touch the booster stage if it were not tumbling too severely.

But when McDivitt reported at the beginning that the stage was tumbling, White's chances of contacting it were considered slim. The huge booster was reported to be about half a mile from the spacecraft.

An hour after the flight started, Dr. Charles A. Berry, the astronauts' physician, gave the medical go-ahead for White to leave the spacecraft and float in space.

After floating in the black void of space for 12 minutes on the end of a 25-foot golden lifeline, White was to return to the craft.

Most of his excursion was to take place more than 100 miles above the southern United States as Gemini 4 crossed from Mexico to Georgia.

After this jaunt, McDivitt was to maneuver about 16 miles away from the orbiting booster. Then, during the fifth orbit, he was again to try to rendezvous with the booster, possibly approaching to within 10 feet.

No exit was planned during this maneuver.

Both the ability to rendezvous and to operate outside of an orbiting spacecraft are techniques which must be perfected for later flight to the moon.

The dramatic journey of the Gemini 4 started at 10:16 a.m. (Winona time) when the mighty Titan 2 thundered off its Cape Kennedy launching stand and propelled the craft into its precise orbit.

It was the start of America's

Rendezvous With Booster 'Scrubbed'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. today scrubbed the planned rendezvous of the Gemini 4 spacecraft with its burned-out second stage booster.

The mission control center at Houston reported that McDivitt, the command pilot, had used 50 per cent of his fuel capability in attempting to maneuver toward the satellite—the second stage of the Titan 2 booster which hurled the Gemini 4 into orbit.

Said mission director Kraft, "I think we should save the fuel...I don't think it's worth it. We're more concerned about the lifetime than closing with that booster. Let's scrub it."

longest attempted manned flight yet — an endurance mission scheduled to end about 12:06 p.m. EST next Monday after 62 circuits of the globe in 97 hours, 50 minutes.

The launching was delayed 1 hour, 16 minutes because of a balky launch pad service tower that would not fold down from the rocket due to an electrical malfunction.

Despite the excitement attached to the rendezvous and space excursion maneuvers, mission director Christopher C. Kraft Jr., said the main goal of the flight was to determine how well men and spacecraft systems can withstand a long exposure to the space environment.

The flight, if carried to completion, would eclipse the present American record of 34 hours, 20 minutes established in May 1963 by astronaut Gordon Cooper.

A Russian cosmonaut, Valeri Bykovsky, holds the record of 119 hours, 6 minutes.

As the great two-stage Air Force Titan rocket lifted Gemini 4 skyward with a thunderous roar, the pilots reported all systems in good condition.

About seven minutes after blastoff, Mission Control Center reported Gemini was in a successful orbit.

McDivitt fired small jets to provide the final maneuver that put the vehicle in proper orbit and in a flying formation with the rocket stage.

Mission Control Center at Houston reported it thought it heard McDivitt estimate the stage was orbiting about 500 feet behind the spacecraft.

This was close enough for White to attempt a rendezvous with the booster during the second orbit.

It was the first time that control of a U.S. man-in-space flight had shifted to the new multimillion-dollar plant at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston. All future NASA manned flights will be conducted in this manner, although all will start from Cape Kennedy.

The burned-out second stage of the Titan is 27 feet long and 10 feet in diameter, larger than the spacecraft which is 10 feet tall and 9 1/2 feet across the base.

The rocket stage was equipped with two high intensity blinking lights to help the pilots spot it in darkness.

The launch of the 165-ton, 80-foot long Titan was watched by thousands who lined the Cape Kennedy beaches, roadsides and other vantage points.

House Passes Excise Tax Cut Bill, 401-6

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's excise-tax cut roared through the House by a 401-6 vote and the Senate doesn't plan to stand in its way.

In fact the Senate is clearing the track for the bill that would lower prices on autos, air conditioners, cameras, watches and a lot of other items.

The Finance Committee is putting aside the health-care bill to take up the excise bill beginning Tuesday. Only one witness will be called, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. The committee members agreed informally to keep the excise legislation winging along by not trying to add extraneous amendments.

Assistant Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana said he hopes the Senate can pass the bill by the middle of this month.

The House cleared the bill

Wednesday after adding about $900 million in cuts to those Johnson proposed. The House used only about two of the four hours allotted for debate on the measure.

The additional $900-million cut comes from complete elimination of the 10 per cent levy on automobiles over a four-year period. Johnson had proposed only cutting it to 5 per cent.

The total first-year revenue reduction would amount to only about $1.75 billion as Johnson proposed but with the additional five points coming off automobiles the eventual annual cut would run around $4.8 billion.

First to come off, effective July 1, would be the levies of 10 per cent at retail on furs, jewelry, luggage and toilet articles, the first three percentage points of the auto cut, and the taxes, mostly 10 per cent at the manufacturer's level, on appliances, cameras, business machines, radios, phonographs, television sets, and most sporting goods.

At the end of the calendar year, theater and other admission taxes would be eliminated along with those on club dues, auto parts and sales of stocks and real estate. The auto levy would come down one point more and the telephone tax of 10 per cent would drop three points, first stage of a gradual elimination to be completed by Jan. 1, 1969.

Senators, like House members, have been declaiming for years against the excises, which date from the depression, World War II or the Korean War. The bill also would end the levy on local and long-distance telephone service and the admissions tax on tickets to movies, plays, musicals, concerts and athletic events costing $1 or more.

Storms Hit Many Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather, with tornadoes, rain and hail, hit wide areas of the nation Wednesday night, killing at least two persons, injuring about 100 others and causing property damage.

The storm belt ranged from West Texas to Minnesota and from the Ohio Valley into the Middle Atlantic states and southern New England. The storms diminished during the early morning.

A tornado struck three small communities in West Texas — Hale Center, Cotton Center and Spade. A farm woman was killed and her husband seriously injured when their home was demolished near Cotton Center.

About 100 persons suffered injuries at Hale Center, a town of about 2,500. Six persons were reported in serious condition. The twister hit the business district hardest. Several homes also were destroyed or damaged. National Guardsmen and Army reservists were sent to the town from Plainview.

A farm worker was killed near Bowling Green, Ky., wh struck by lightning during a thunderstorm. Several funnel clouds were sighted west of Topeka, Kan., southwest of St. Louis and south of Omaha. Hail pelted areas in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and West Virginia. Heavy rain fell in much of the storm belt.

Negro Deputy Killed, White Man Arrested

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — A Negro deputy sheriff was killed and his squad car companion wounded in a highway ambush near this racial hot spot late Wednesday night.

Deputy O'Neal Moore was shot in the head, Creed Rogers, also a Negro, was wounded. Both were riding in the sheriff's car along a highway seven miles north of Bogalusa.

A white man was arrested in Tyngtown, Miss., about 20 miles north of Bogalusa, shortly after the shooting and charges of murder were brought against him early today.

Sheriff J. C. Kilgipps of Walhalla County, Miss., said Ferris R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, was held for Louisiana officers after being looked on a charge of murder. He refused to waive extradition.

Walk in Space Opens New World

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Cold and black, the empty reaches of space offer no real notion of distance — save for the numberless stars. The sun, like the heart of the flame from a welder's torch, glares with a blinding, searing white light.

Closer is the lonely quarter-moon, soft and small.

This is the strange new world of Edward Higgins White II, American astronaut, age 34, father of two children, a would-be human planet in orbit around the earth.

It is a world of fantastic dimension and unreal sensation. It is as if you had leaped into the air and never really came down again, lost in a perpetual fall around the earth.

Ahead of the spacecraft on a golden tether, you plummet together at some 17,500 miles per hour — and yet you feel not so much as a breath of breeze — for there is no air.

The sun stands out in the blackness as a great light bulb that seemingly spreads no light. It is only when the sun's rays strike a surface that the radiation is seen. There is no air to buffet and spread the light.

Below, you see the earth's blanket of air glowing with the sun's light, splitting the white light into the splatter of color as the world of men know it.

You feel the full brunt of the sun's radiation. You turn toward the sun and feel the immediate slap of heat at your face as the rays come through your visor. And you are thankful, too, that the visor is filtered to protect your eyes from the cruel light.

Behind you—gleaming on its sun-side — is the spacecraft and your command pilot keeping a careful eye on your movements. And you know that the sun-side of the craft is hot, some 200 degrees Fahrenheit, and the shade side is perhaps 200 degrees below zero.

And that is probably also the temperature variation of your suit exterior if you merely stood there and didn't move.

The earth stretches out like some hazy plain — painted in browns and golds and purples almost like colors you hadn't seen before. And perhaps through the haze you see the long peninsula of Florida stretching into the blue Atlantic.

But it is a free and wonderful feeling — and you have an unhappy thought that you must be an awkward creature in this clean, stark world of circular movements. The space gun in your hand spits out a small jet of oxygen and propels you side to side, to and fro, and it is a fine way to get around, a beautiful toy in this daydream sort of world.

Ahead of you, too, is the booster rocket that brought you to this place—its ends jagged and burned by the blast of flame and explosion. It tumbles slowly in an unreal way like a patrolman's twirling nightstick in slow motion.

You remember to take care and not pull too hard on your tether line, because in this weightless arena, you know the only laws that hold are that any action has its equal and opposite reaction. Strike an object to send it reeling and you send yourself reeling as well. If you didn't have a helmet on and you coughed, it would back you up. It is a tentative world where everything is in motion, and motion is the only thing for sure.

And you keep an eye from time to time on the spacecraft — for it is your only reality, your only measure of up or down.

And even though you are a mere man, a lean 6-footer who weighs some 170 pounds, your tug on the tether line can move more than 7,500 pounds of monster spacecraft.

Then suddenly the 12-minute visit in space is over and voices on your headset tell you to come back to your cockpit — and you have to obey. Perhaps it is then you notice the spacecraft from your lonely post for the last time, and remember the words of the first human to float like this, a Soviet named Alexei Leonov. He looked at his spacecraft too with unworldly eyes. It was, he said, for him a planet — a lonely planet on a shoreless ocean.

Forsythe Names Nine 'Who Can Beat Rolvaag'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Robert Forsythe, the retiring state Republican chairman, announced Wednesday he does not intend to seek public office, that he is going into private business and that there are nine Republicans he says can beat Gov. Karl Rolvaag in an election.

Forsythe told a news conference he will become executive vice president of Consumers Financial Corp. this month and that "I do not intend to be a candidate for public office."

Consumers is a holding company engaged in the mutual fund and insurance business.

Forsythe had been mentioned as a possible candidate for Congress from the 3rd District if Republican Clark MacGregor, the incumbent, bids for U.S. senator or governor.

On Forsythe's list of possible GOP gubernatorial candidates was MacGregor; Elmer L. Andersen, former governor of Minnesota; William Randall, Ramsey County attorney; Val Bjornson, state treasurer; George Vavoulis, St. Paul mayor; Harold LeVander, South St. Paul attorney; P. Kenneth Peterson, one-time GOP candidate for U.S. senator; Wheelock Whitney, the 1964 GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate; and Rep. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia, speaker of the state House of Representatives.

Forsythe said he does not know if any of the men would be a candidate.

The GOP State Central Committee will meet in Minneapolis June 18-19 to pick Forsythe's successor.

$5.2 Billion For Space Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—An authorization of just under $5.2 billion to keep the ambitious U.S. space program in high gear during the next fiscal year moves back to the House today.

The Senate gave it top-heavy approval by a 79-4 vote late Wednesday.

Included in the funds were another $24.1 million to continue the two-man Gemini program and $2,973,385,000 for the Apollo project aimed at landing astronauts on the moon by 1970.

Senate changes include a net increase of about $15 million.

Homesick Boys Quit Jobs Camp

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—Twenty homesick boys quit Oklahoma's first federal job corps camp Wednesday to return to their homes in the East.

Camp Director Stan Adams said they had been at the camp two weeks along with 60 other boys.

"All of the boys who left were from the East and they would rather be at home than at the camp in Oklahoma," he said.

The boys, all high school dropouts, left by bus. They had been studying at the Stapp Work Center south of Hodge, Okla.

Hedy Lamarr Gets Divorce at 50

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Hedy Lamarr, 50, has been granted a divorce from her sixth husband, Lewis W. Boies Jr., a 44-year-old attorney she married March 4, 1963. He did not contest the action.

Superior Court Judge Roger Alton Pfaff approved a property settlement Wednesday under which Boies is to pay Miss Lamarr half his gross income for two years, or a minimum of $1,250 monthly for the period.

Wabasha Board Sets Hearings on School Petitions

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Petitions for school district attachments and road projects occupied the Wabasha County Board of Commissioners Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Two school petitions will be heard July 12 at 2 p.m. when other business is handled. Hoosier Ridge 2403 asked for attachment to Plainview Independent District 810 but the board couldn't act because Plainview currently is involved in consolidation. The board received a petition from Boss District 2406 for attachment to Lake City Independent District 813 and set the hearing for July 12 at 2 p.m.

THE PETITION for dissolution of Hyde Park District 2393 was granted and parts attached to Lake City 813, Hammond 2374, and Millville 2407.

Also on July 12, the board will open bids at 10 a.m. on coal for the jail, garage building on the courthouse grounds, and Buena Vista Rest Home.

Contracts were approved to low bidders on furnishing 54,000 cubic yards crushed rock to replace surfacing on three county road projects.

Patterson Quarries, St. Charles, was low on two projects: Furnishing 18,000 cubic yards for a project north of TH 60 and west of CSAH 4 in the Plainview area, $32,900. Quarve & Anderson, Rochester, bidding $33,470, and 13,000 cubic yards east of CSAH 4 between Lake City and Theilman and County Road 86 between Theilman and Plainview, $24,640. Quarve & Anderson's bid was a close $24,490.

The Rochester firm was low at $42,880 on 23,000 cubic yards for a project south of TH 60 west of County Road 86, Plainview area. Patterson bid $43,960.

A RESOLUTION was passed asking the state commissioner of highways to recommend designating certain county roads as eligible for federal aid as a result of the flood.

Commissioners authorized the county auditor to advertise for bids for construction of an addition to the county garage at Lake City and for grading and surfacing 1.6 miles of CSAH 9 south of Lake City. Bids will be opened July 1.

Because there will be no state funds, commissioners lowered adult and cub fox bounties from $3 to $1.50 and $1 to 50 cents, respectively.

Tighter Private Water Supply Rules Expected

Concerned by reports of widespread pollution of private wells, the City Council agreed Wednesday night to strengthen housing code provisions calling for safe water supplies.

The council met as a committee of the whole, with Ald. James Stoltman, vice president, in the chair. Council President Harold Briesath arrived after the meeting began but did not assume its direction. Ald. Neil Sawyer was absent, as was Mayor R. K. Ellings.

PURPOSE of the meeting was to reach agreement on changes to the city's housing code, enacted a year and a half ago but still on ice and unenforced. Several proposed amendments have been drafted as the result of public opposition to some sections of the original ordinance. The water supply provision is the only one in which council action has been toward stiffer, rather than more relaxed controls.

Proposing the strengthened water supply provision was Roy Vose, city sanitary inspector. Vose said 154 private water sources have been tested in the city since the recent flood crisis and only 18 have shown acceptable levels of purity according to state standards.

There are about 400 private wells in the city, he estimated. Owners of about half of these have voluntarily requested city health department tests of their purity, he said. Poor construction, shallow depths and inadequate protective casings are contributing factors to the high rates of pollution, said Vose.

TWO MAJOR forms of pollution are found, said Vose, but the original code required that residential water supplies be free only of excessive bacterial concentrations. He recommended that nitrates, an inorganic by-product of bacterial action, also be included. A natural nitrate content of about .1 of one part per million parts of water exists here, Voss said. When the proportion rises to one part per million or more, it becomes toxic, according to state standards. Many of the private wells tested have shown excessive nitrates and some have yielded positive results in bacteria tests, he said. Different tests are required for each form of contamination.

Close regulation of water supplies is needed since many contaminated sources are in rental units, Vose said, thus exposing persons other than the owner to their effects.

REPLYING to Ald. Henry Parks' question, Vose said most wells had never been tested before. They may have been contaminated for extended periods, since the pollutants cannot be seen, tasted or smelled.

Ald. Barry Nelson asked whether flood conditions were largely responsible. Vose said the flood had caused many owners to worry for the first time and resulted in the wave of tests. No visible pattern has appeared, he said, that would make it possible to pinpoint any single cause. Wells in higher elevations show contamination, he pointed out, as much as those in low areas.

Ald. David Johnston asked if persons with private wells could get city water or if they had asked and been refused. Vose said some areas are remote and expensive to connect to the system.

A number of well owners have city water connections in their homes in addition, said Vose. Some of these are even cross-connected with private supplies, in violation of the plumbing code, he stated.

ALD. STOLTMAN said state standards appeared to be inconsistent because they do not seem to be equally severe on sources of pollutants. He referred to state condemnation of effluent discharged by the Goodview sewage disposal plant into Riley's Lake.

Vose said dilution apparently reduces the pollution level in ground waters and that if tests show an increase the state will take action. No increases have appeared in periodic tests taken at the Prairie Island dike gate, he said.

Westfield wells were sampled day and night for six weeks in the recent flood crisis, Vose told aldermen. They were considered safe since they are about 600 feet deep and cased to a depth of 175 feet but the health department was unwilling to take chances, he explained.

Ald. Jerry Borzyskowski asked how the city could police the problem of crudely built and pollution-laden wells. Vose replied that this is one of the reasons the city needs a housing code.

The city should require cleanup or condemnation of sub-standard wells since they are major hazards to public health, he suggested. Through publicity, residents can be given the opportunity to correct their own situations in their own ways, he said.

LACK OF A geographical pattern of infiltration is accentuated by the fact that the 154 voluntary tests include no wells in areas that would appear most likely to be affected, said Vose.

Ald. Parks said he favored adding the recommended provision. Ald. Stoltman demurred, because, he inquired, "What if we don't pass the housing code?" Ald. Borzyskowski suggested a separate ordinance and Stoltman concurred, adding that if a code were adopted the provision for safe water could be included. His colleagues reminded Stoltman that the code already exists and that the discussion now concerns proposed amendments.

In an informal poll, all the aldermen indicated they favored addition of the broader definition for approved water supplies.

Jury Raises Land Price To $9,500

A $1,000 boost — to $9,500 — was given today in the award to Mrs. Lillie R. Diekrager, Dakota, for land taken by the state to construct a portion of I 90.

The award was made as part of a verdict brought in today at 12:12 p.m. in District Court by a 12-man jury which heard testimony Wednesday in Mrs. Diekrager's appeal from an $8,500 award made by three court-appointed land commissioners.

The state took 14 acres from the 69.5-acre Diekrager farm last December. The taking included a two-acre tract on which the Diekrager home and barn stood.

MRS. DIEKRAGER is a widow, still living in a trailer home on the farm left her by her husband. The Diekrager farm is at the summit of Dakota Ridge, 4 miles west of Dakota, at the intersection of CSA 16 and 3.

Judge Arnold Hatfield instructed the jurors in the law of the case about 10:15 a.m. after the opposing attorneys had made their arguments on the testimony which was completed Wednesday afternoon.

Special Assistant Attorney General Winston Ehlmann, St. Paul, represented the state, and Attorney C. Stanley McMahon represented Mrs. Diekrager.

Jurors were: Frank Stork, foreman; Mrs. Joseph A. Bergaus; Richard Angst; Mrs. Elmer H. Obitz; George R. Goudge; Mrs. Leo Reisdorf; Clinton A. Kuhlmann; Miss Helen M. Kropidowski; Mrs. Clarence J. Hemmelman; Mrs. R. H. McCluer; Roy W. Neitzke and Mrs. R. McNally.

TESTIMONY was completed Wednesday afternoon with five land appraisers, two for the plaintiff and three for the state, taking the stand.

The plaintiff's appraisers, Everett J. Kohner, 365 W. King St., and Ralph T. Hengel, 623 E. King St., agreed that Mrs. Diekrager had been damaged to the extent of $10,500.

An appraiser hired by the state, John S. Steffen, 222 W. Wabasha St., set Mrs. Diekrager's damages at $7,660. Two of the land commissioners, Paul J. Kieffer, Altura, and Leo M. Rowekamp, Lewiston, from whose award Mrs. Diekrager appealed reiterated their opinion that her damages were $8,500.

Kohner noted that the Diekrager farm was located at the intersection of two good roads, leading to the surrounding towns. Although the house has no indoor plumbing or central heating, it was structurally sound and would have been desirable to someone looking for a homestead on a farm that could be worked parttime, Kohner said.

With the highway condemnation taking the homestead, the remaining land's best use is as an addition to the farm of one of Mrs. Diekrager's neighbors, Kohner testified.

UNDER CROSS-examination, Kohner admitted that it would have cost $2,000 to modernize the house. He also admitted that a considerable amount would have to be spent to make the barn suitable for housing cattle. (The low corner of the barn's foundation is buckling outward.)

Hengel testified flatly that the land left to Mrs. Diekrager after the condemnation is no longer a farm, although the land's best use is for farming. He added that the pictures of the farm taken 10 years ago and introduced in evidence Wednesday morning by McMahon were a fair representation of the farm before the condemnation last December.

Answering Ehlmann's questions, Hengel said that the house could have been repaired for $2,500. The barn could have been fixed up by a new owner if he were "handy", Hengel testified.

HENGEL SAID that a group of state pictures of the farm taken last year were also fair representations of its appearance. The state's pictures showed some of the Diekrager buildings in need of paint and were taken in the winter when the homestead's trees were bare.

Steffen, the state's appraiser, testified that in his opinion the Diekrager farm was worth $11,435 before the taking. He set damages by the taking at $7,660. He said that five of the 14 acres taken by the state were tillable, the rest pasture.

The farm home was in fair condition before construction began, Steffen testified. It showed signs of having had little upkeep for sometime, he added. The inside walls were dark and soiled, Steffen said, and he estimated the home's age at 60 years.

STEFFEN SAID the land's best use would be as farm land, although only a marginal income could be made from its limited acreage. Otherwise, it might be subdivided into homesteads, he said.

Under cross-examination,

Mall Opens With a Bang

MIRACLE MALL IS OPEN . . . Crowds stroll through the main mall area of the new Miracle Mall shopping center after its grand opening this morning. Rest areas are Crowds streamed into the new Miracle Mall center this morning after aerial bombs signaled the opening of its main entrances.

With each of the three explosions, set off by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Mad Bombers, a helium-filled balloon, bearing a $25 gift certificate, was cut loose.

One balloon had a short trip. It was snared by a shopper in the mall parking lot immediately after it was set free.

PRECEDING the opening of the main doors, mall merchants and visiting dignitaries were introduced from a platform in the parking lot.

Ed Allen, master of ceremonies, introduced Leslie F. Crews, president and board chairman of Western Land Corporation, the firm that developed the land.

Also taking part in the program was Ellsworth Johnson, Western Land's executive vice president, who introduced some of the developers, visiting executives of the firms in the center and the owners or managers of the stores in the mall.

Arnold Albrecht, owner of Fairway Foods and president of the mall merchants association, accepted the center on behalf of its tenants.

WILLIAM Lang, president of the Winona Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the mall merchants on behalf of his group, and he introduced Sharon Olson, Miss Snowflake of 1965.

The American Legion color guard raised a flag on the edge of the parking lot at a signal from Miss Olson.

Mayor R. K. Ellings introduced Alan Moore, Minneapolis Aquatennial commodore, and he, in turn, introduced Miss Mary Sue Anderson, the current Aquatennial queen.

After Moore commissioned Winona's mayor an honorary Aquatennial skipper, Miss Anderson signaled the Mad Bombers to set off the aerial bombs that preceded the opening of the mall entrances.

Check Writer Gets 10 Days To Make Good

A 29-year-old Winona man was given 10 days today in municipal court to pay two bad checks with the alternative of being sentenced on his guilty plea to a charge of cashing one of the checks.

Robert D. Phillips, 340 Pelzer St., pleaded guilty to cashing an insufficient funds check for $7 at Kleinschmidt Grocery, 209 W. Sarnia St., March 28.

He explained that he has been out of work two weeks but is working now and will make good on the Kleinschmidt check and another check mentioned by Judge John D. McGill as soon as he is paid.

Judge McGill sentenced Phillips to pay a $35 fine or serve 12 days in jail but stayed execution of the sentence 10 days to give Phillips a chance to make good the checks.

If Phillips does not pay the checks in the 10-day period, he will have to pay the fine or serve the jail term, Judge McGill warned.

will be open until 9 p.m. Free pony rides will be available on Main Street. The first band concert will be given June 11.

The Flood Must Have Taken It

It looked like some sort of game.

Something, maybe, like "Fountain, fountain, who's got the fountain?" or even the old carnival shell game.

Downtown drinking fountains, a municipal tradition of many years' standing, have been diminished by one, apparently by a fancy bit of sleight-of-hand.

Ald. Henry Parks told the City Council about it Wednesday night.

As the annual scourges of cold Canadian air and ice coverings retreated this year, street department employees removed wooden protective boxes from the fountains. Lifting the box at 3rd and Lafayette Street, the men found the drinking gadget gone.

Parks suggested the city gain permission to install a different fountain in the wall of a nearby building. A sidewalk location is no longer needed, he pointed out, since dog fountains, once thoughtfully provided by the city, are no more.

Maybe no one would miss it if the pipe were simply sawed off and capped, suggested Ald. David Johnston cuttingly.

Ald. James Stoltman put in a word for thirsty downtowners and public convenience. Put up another one, he said dryly, and perhaps it will stay put this time.

Little support for the replacement was forthcoming from other aldermen. Only two such sidewalk oases now remain: One at 3rd and Main streets and one at 3rd and Center streets.

Man Gets 5-Year Term in Killing

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Robert E. Jackson, 36, was sentenced to five years in prison Wednesday on a charge of second degree manslaughter in the shooting of Marion Johnson, 35, Jan. 17.

Judge John A. Weeks in Hennepin County District Court permitted Jackson to plead guilty to the manslaughter charge, reduced from the original second degree murder charge.

The woman died in an exchange of gunfire between Jackson and Halsey Johnson, who was not related to her.

It Happened Last Night Pamela Sounds Off on Woes

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Beautiful Pamela Tiffin and my Beautiful Wife get together once a year and say, "Aren't we lucky that we both married newspapermen?"

My B. W. wasn't feeling so lucky about it the other day, so I substituted.

"The trouble is they work so hard," lovely Pamela said with a slight frown, "and so LONG!"

Pamela, a movie star at 22, married 2½ years to Clay Felker of the New York Herald Tribune, told me, "His life isn't his, it's the newspaper's."

"Usually," she added, "he works at the paper real late. Well, a couple of times I've gone up there — and I found those men really are at the paper working. Once when I went up there he wasn't there, and I thought 'Aha!'"

"He had gone home and was wondering where I was," Newspapermen's wives, she feels, should form sort of a Lonely Hearts Club. Still, it's wonderful being married to a newspaperman, she said, because you meet such interesting newspapermen. Pamela feels that women could learn a lot if they would let us brilliant newspapermen talk at cocktail parties.

"But women want to do all the talking," Pamela complained. "We had a brilliant party with some famous men there. The women took over. They all want to put their 2 cents in, and mostly their 2 cents isn't worth it."

"WOMEN should calm down a little and remember that it's still a man's world. We still live by men's minds and men's morals. I suppose I forgot that myself," she admitted.

"I want my husband to shelter me — but two hours later I want to say what I think!" Pamela (I forgot to say her husband works for a morning paper) said that due to her movie-making and his late hours, "I spent a lot of nights alone last year."

Although she filmed "The Hallelujah Trail" with Burt Lancaster, Lee Remick and Jim Hutton, she continues studying acting with Stella Adler, trying to be a better actress.

"I USED to think," Pamela said, "that to act, all you had to do was act, but there seems to be so much more to it..."

About this time I told Pamela, as I slapped my notebook shut, that I must be off, as I had work to do that would keep me at the office very late.

"Give you wife my... uh... Pamela hesitated, groping for a word.

"Regards?"

"Consoles," said Pamela. TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A doctor told L. S. McCandless that tranquilizers work too well: "Now some of my patients don't care whether they pay me or not."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Betty Colton discussed a very romantic couple: "They won't even argue, except by candlelight."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "True executive talent is the ability to decide quickly — and then get somebody to do the work." — J. G. Pollard.

EARL'S PEARLS: The Clay-Liston affair indicated boxing is good for home TV—it's not a violent sport.

"M is for Monster," a book of monster jokes (which may follow the elephant joke fad), has this one: "What is a monster's normal eyesight?"

"It's 20-20-20." ... That's earl, brother.

Waterfowl Situation

The special teal season opening early in September under a permit plan seems to be pretty much up in the air in the northern Mississippi flyway states. Even Bill Green, biologist of the Wild Life Refuge, doesn't know what is going to happen. It is certain that some of the state conservation departments will not have a special teal season while it is still being debated in the game and fish division of other departments.

Rumors have it that Wisconsin will not have a special teal season. Iowa is planning one, not including the river area. In fact, Iowa has announced the method for getting the state teal hunting permit, one of the federal requirements. The Mississippi River zone will remain closed to protect the wood duck.

Minnesota is in doubt. We understood that the teal season was all set for this state until objections were raised in the legislature. Nothing has come out of St. Paul on the teal season since. Our guess is that there will be a teal season. For years Northern Minnesota hunters have been asking for an early duck opening so they could get some teal shooting.

One thing is certain and that is these states must make up their mind shortly. The deadline for notifying Washington is the middle of June so that co-ordinated plans can be completed.

Wood duck Hatch The first report we received on wood duck broods traveling to water came the other day from near Marshland, Wis. A motorist reported a hen wood duck with a brood of eight little ducklings toddling behind it on the highway. Traffic halted to let the duck continue to the water.

Wood ducks are tree nesting ducks, usually in a hole quite high up a tree. At a certain age the young duckling jump or are pushed from the nest, land with a bump, get up, apparently unhurt, and follow the mother who leads the way to the nearest water.

For the next month or so, Bill Green tells us, this trip to the water will be under way along the river and its tributaries, and motorists should keep a lookout for traveling wood duck families. The Upper Mississippi Region is one of the big wood duck production areas of the nation.

The flood probably left a lot of nesting mallards high and dry when the water dropped. Some of the nests may be quite a distance from today's waterline. However, Green is of the opinion that these birds will come out all right. They will make their way to the water after the hatch.

Here and There The fish story of the week comes from Mondovi, Wis. Merrit Eldefeldt, fishing in the Mississippi near Alma, caught an eight-pound walleye. He cut it open and found a rattlesnake inside of the fish. He threw the fish away and hopes to collect bounty on the snake.

A woman near Witoka, Minn., rescued a fawn from a herd of cows. The cows had the fawn circled and were about to close in for the kill when she came to the rescue, driving the cattle away and the baby deer into a nearby grove. Cattle with calves are known to kill dogs in this manner.

A Million Catfish Iowa Conservation Commission officials say today they hope to raise about one million channel catfish this year at the Humboldt Fish Hatchery. To reach this goal, approximately 1.5 million fertilized eggs will be collected. Within the next three weeks, 500 female and 500 male channel catfish will be netted in the Des Moines, Big Sioux and Little Sioux rivers and used as brood stock.

Trials Entry Eighty-six dogs have been entered in the big Tri-State trial to be held this weekend, Ralph G. Boalt, secretary, has announced. It will start Friday at 2 p.m. on the Whitewater Refuge lands near Weaver. The list includes 20 open-all-age entries, 21 amateur all-age, 17 qualifying and 28 derby dogs.

Did you know that adventure can be yours whether you're six or seventy-six and if pursued, it can affect your whole being — mind, body and soul. This can be good or bad, depending on the adventurer.

There's something about an adventure that catches the interest of most people. Americans express their interest in adventure in a sense, through their extensive efforts to travel. Vacations often include going places and doing things. In our rather plush life, we control, to a great degree, the outcome of our adventure, being careful not to do anything too strenuous, but never-the-less, we do things, and in doing them, we do explore this ever-changing old globe we inhabit.

SPEAKING OF adventure, do you remember when you were a child and your little mind would reach with all its ability to comprehend the meanings of those pictures, accompanied by printing you couldn't read? Perhaps you dragged the comics to mother, dad, or an older brother or sister and begged, "Read me funnies." In time, more adventure was yours when in your very early school days, you were taught to read three-letter words at first... but, you were reading.

This adventure took on all the earmarks of work as you were expected, during your growing years, to read assignments you took little or no pleasure in. But reading itself was yours, and to use it for good or for bad was your prerogative.

This leads me to the meat of our little visit today. Let us forget, adventure can be ours — humdrum gone and new horizons reached for, and achieved if we will but seek them through the art of reading. Reading will have its effect on mind, body and spirit. Reading cheap pulp publications designed to entertain the base emotions of a person, can be an adventure into waywardness, physical decay and demoralization, affecting mind, body and spirit. However, to that individual that reads with intent to grasp worthy knowledge, his horizons will hold treasures of good things that will inspire the mind, sustain the body, and direct the spirit of that person.

READ! IT WILL make a difference, especially if that which you read is read with a purpose. Books can be had to

Stockpile of Atom Weapons Up in Europe

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says the U.S. nuclear stockpile in Europe will be twice its 1961 size by this time next year.

"We are now shipping such substantial amounts of nuclear warheads that within 12 months the stockpile will be 100 per cent greater than in 1961," McNamara told newsmen after the meeting of defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ended Tuesday.

He said in December 1961, he told the NATO ministers there were thousands of nuclear warheads on European soil.

He branded as "absolutely untrue" reports that the United States is planning to withdraw its nuclear muscle from Western Europe.

"There has been a steady increase in the stockpile over the last four years," McNamara said, adding that since January the number of nuclear weapons in Europe had increased by 10 per cent.

McNamara said the stockpile includes warheads for U.S. forces and those intended for use by Allied forces in case of war. All are in custody of U.S. troops as required by U.S. law.

The NATO meeting agreed to give further study to a U.S. proposal to share some nuclear controls with other NATO members through a committee of four or five defense ministers.

The committee presumably would include the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and one of the smaller NATO countries.

Nelson Expects Public Works Bill to Pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., says he is "certain" the House will approve the Senate-passed public works and economic development bill.

Nelson predicted Tuesday a regional commission to "help revitalize the economy of the Upper Great Lakes will be created within six months." A proposal authorizing such regional commissions is in the bill.

The Upper Great Lakes region includes 81 counties in northern Wisconsin, northern Minnesota and Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

improve one's attitude, enlarge one's concepts, instruct as to the ways to do a better job at most any given task. To be successful in a worthy endeavor, take a trip to the bookstore or local library, find a good book on a subject, and then proceed to digest its contents. And before you know it, you will be a progressive thinker with new ideas on how to perform your present activity in our society.

Whether you're six or seventy-six, reading can be a glorious adventure. Reject it, and you're apt to find your life becoming uneventful, and you'll function pretty much in the same manner day in and day out. Reading can make a difference.

Shriver Can't Keep 2 Jobs, Senate States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver would have to throw one of his hats away if the Senate has its way.

The late President John F. Kennedy's brother-in-law wears two in the Johnson administration: director of the Peace Corps and director of what President Johnson calls his "war on poverty."

Wednesday in passing a $115-million Peace Corps authorization, the Senate attached an amendment saying the director "shall hold no other federal office of equivalent rank."

The amendment could be knocked out later along the legislative road, but if it stands Shriver would have to choose between his two jobs.

It is known that he has recommended to Johnson a successor as Peace Corps director. He has replied to inquiries about his dual assignment by saying he does the best he can and serves at the President's discretion.

A millionaire, Shriver draws his Peace Corps salary — $28,500 — but not the $30,000 salary authorized for director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Senate acted late Wednesday at a sparsely attended session just before passing by voice vote the $115-million authorization to put 15,110 volunteers in the field or in training by August 1966. The amendment was offered by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and accepted by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., floor manager for the bill. It was adopted by voice vote.

Shriver was not available for comment on Wednesday's Senate vote.

Presidential Disability Plan Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes were improved today for a break in the deadlock between House and Senate over a proposed constitutional amendment dealing with presidential disability.

The leaders of the House and Senate committees trying to work out a compromise were reported in agreement — but there is still the matter of getting the other conferees to agree.

The issue that is threatening to kill an amendment that both the Senate and House passed overwhelmingly, is a time limit the House imposed on Congress to decide who is president when a vice president challenges the right of a once-disabled president to resume office.

The House said 10 days was enough, after which the president would automatically get his job back if Congress had still not acted.

The Senate, which prizes its custom of unlimited debate, fixed no time limit. But it said Congress should proceed immediately to consider the vice president's challenge. In both bills, it would require a two-thirds vote to uphold the challenge.

Two meetings between the conference committees left the dispute unresolved, with prospects for agreement so dim no new meetings were scheduled.

Marine Captain Proud to Lead Men in Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE

A COMMAND POST IN SOUTH VIET NAM — Recently half the members of Company D, 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion of the U.S. Marine 3rd Division were eligible to return to America. But to a man they volunteered for six months more of battle duty here.

"Hell, we can't go home and leave the old man to clean up this mess all by himself," said one young Marine.

The old man is Capt. Pat Collins, 32, of Grosse Ile, Mich., one of the boldest company commanders on the front, a man with whom bravery is a habit.

The 4 officers, 80 troops and 3 Navy corpsmen of his company follow him as if he were a battlefield messiah. And he returns their devotion in full measure.

"They're exceptionally aggressive," he said. "With men like these, leading them isn't the problem. It's keeping up with them."

Pat is stocky and has a deeply tanned face of homely eloquence with Irish blue eyes. In manner he is both brusque and oddly gentle.

He served as a corporal in the Korean campaign and put in 26 months at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba before coming to the Far East seven months ago.

In Cuba, he won the Navy Marine Corps Medal, the highest peacetime decoration, and since coming here he won the first Marine in the Da Nang area to win a Bronze Star for bravery.

The captain squirms in embarrassment when asked about his medals.

"In that Cuba thing there were some people caught in a minefield that had to be gotten out," he said, "and as for that Bronze Star I was just trying to get some of our wounded evacuated."

What Pat actually did that gained him a Bronze Star was to stand up time and time again under steady heavy enemy fire and personally direct helicopters to a landing zone where they could pick up some of his wounded men.

In their first 42 days here, Pat and his men engaged in 32 squad to company size patrols and made 19 contacts with the enemy.

Their company has been locked in some of the fiercest fire fights in the Marine sector.

"We have covered every bloody inch of this ground, mostly by foot," said the captain.

"The heat and heavy undergrowth make it rough. We carry rifles, 200 rounds of ammo, four grenades and four canteens. We also try to bring along some canned fruit to provide extra fluid."

"We may go only five miles and come out by helicopter. But on a two-day patrol we have covered 30 miles."

"Sometimes we have to cut our way or crawl on hands and knees."

"The other day we walked for 3½ hours in water up to our armpits. We liked that. It gave us a chance to cool off."

The recon company has killed 5 Viet Cong, wounded 16 and probably killed 5 more. It has suffered 3 dead and 16 wounded.

"Two of our people have been wounded twice and one is still with us," said Collins. He added, as if in apology, "I haven't been hit myself once."

It is said that in wartime there is no higher glory or greater reward than being commander of a company of troops.

For a company is large enough to be important in battle but a kingdom small enough for the commander to know all his men personally.

That is the way Capt. Pat Collins, leader of recon Company D of the 3rd U.S. Marines, feels about his post.

He wouldn't trade it right now for any other job on earth. He talked of it as he lay stretched out under a tent in a dried up rice paddy, loud with insect song.

The heat came down in an endless hammer of glare. Red and gold butterflies shimmered and skittered past and it was hard to think the enemy was only a couple of hills away.

Chewing on a stem of grass. Pat remarked:

"Once you put the average Marine out in the field his overall outlook on life generally improves. He has a sense of achievement. He feels he is doing what he ought to be doing."

"You don't join the Marines if you are looking for a soft, cushy life."

Pat has put in 13 years. After serving as a corporal in Korea, he quit to get a degree in in-

Dirksen Says GOP Paris Trip Is Out of Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hunting a formula to vitalize their minority role are running into difficulties in pin-pointing issues on which to oppose President Johnson.

GOP members of Congress made it apparent in a barrage of announcements Wednesday that they have wide differences of opinion among themselves on major international and domestic problems.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen illustrated this cleavage when he was informed that a group of four House Republicans would go to Paris June 11 to inquire into the strained relations between the United States and De Gaulle's France.

"Are you kidding?" Dirksen asked reporters. "After all, we do have a State Department and we have a President who is supposed to conduct our foreign affairs." He added that such a delegation could cause an international incident if a member talked out of turn at an overseas news conference.

Dirksen was asked how he reconciled a statement by the GOP Policy Coordinating Committee that the Democratic administration "has yet to develop an adequate military program to counter the problem of Communist aggression in South Viet Nam" with general party support for the course Johnson is taking there.

"There is nothing else to support at this point," he replied.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House minority leader, disclosed that the policy coordinating group — made up of Senate and House leaders, governors, former presidential nominees and members of the national committee — had tossed back to congressional Republicans the hot-potato issue of state laws banning the union shop.

Thoughts at Random — From Editor's Notebook

WINONA'S HAD several things to feel proud about in the past few months and certainly not least among them was the recent evaluation of the city's financial situation which resulted in two New York rating firms awarding Winona A and AA credit ratings prior to the sale last week of a $5.78 million school bond issue.

Ratings like this are testimony to the sound fiscal policies to which this city has adhered through the years and reflect the confidence of objective analysts in Winona's sound economy of the present and its potential for the future. The high ratings also were responsible in large measure for Winona being quoted a bond interest rate that experts described as "very fine" despite a recent upward trend in the bond market index.

This favorable interest rate is of substantial dollar value to Winona taxpayers who would have faced a higher cost of debt retirement had the rate been even fractionally higher. But even more significant than this, the more than 80 financial institutions who expressed an interest in purchasing Winona's school bonds were telling us that they believed an investment in this city's future is a sound one and one in which they were anxious to have a stake.

NOT VERY MANY Winonans, we're sure, will side with the idea that the model steamboat at Huff Street and Highway 61 is an eyesore. Nevertheless, the Park Recreation Board seems to feel the boat is trespassing on sacred ground and should be removed. We grant that the overhead light cable is unsightly and should be buried, as the department commissioners maintain. But we also believe that the model, suitably repainted and adequately protected from future vandalism, is a valuable attraction.

Tourists often stop to photograph the boat. Their opinion of its attractiveness and uniqueness is pretty well demonstrated. It wouldn't be a bad idea for the board to take a second look and give some wholehearted cooperation in keeping up an asset that helps make Winona a little bit more intriguing to passersby.

THEY CALLED IT, once, the manly art of self-defense.

Today the heavyweight boxing ring is largely populated by demagogues and derelicts. These meathead actors go through motions which are hardly as vigorous as a schoolyard fist fight. Meanwhile, the public suckers.

With one reputed blow Cassius Clay, a lumbering loudmouth, "knocked out" Sonny Liston, a two-time patsy who couldn't fight his way out of a paper bag with two machetes, in what passed for a championship fight. And in Lewiston, Maine, yet, which is getting just about out of the country.

The fight lasted less than a minute, which is a record for larceny of this description. We trust it marked the end of this monstrous fraud on the credulity of the American public and slur on American manhood.

Professional boxing, now a property of the bilkers, has gone the way of professional wrestling. It is a pity, but in the circumstances it is good riddance.

THE QUESTION often is asked whether the Johnson administration's poverty program will be really effective.

The exact extent of its impact on the impoverished people of America cannot be measured until later. But its headquarters already have been set up in Washington, D.C., and one thing for certain can be said at this time.

There will be no further poverty among members of the poverty staff. They will receive salaries ranging from $18,935 to $30,000 a year. The recipients of this anti-poverty paycheck are not great in number, they total only 46, but you will have to admit it's a start.

The 1965 EDITION of the Minnesota highway map, now available, has undergone numerous and beneficial changes. It is the first completely new map produced in 15 years and contains new terminology, signs, map symbols and road classifications shown in the legend in conformity to the recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Other changes include a larger St. Paul-Minneapolis metropolitan area and 12 additional city insets.

Numerous hand-drawn and photographic reproductions depict Minnesota's waters, wilderness and wildlife with illustrations of both the state bird, the loon, and the Lady Slipper, the state flower. The map is being printed in the four-color process. The miles per inch scale has been reduced from 12 to 10 1/2 which makes the new edition easier to read and the new general color scheme is brighter and more pleasing to the eye.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Influence of Labor Strong

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Congress is supposed to represent all the people. But many of the members in both houses owe their election last November in large part to the votes and funds contributed by labor union members.

Will some new pressure groups now be formed to reflect dramatically the wishes of the many citizens who feel they are unrepresented today? For apparently one of the most effective ways to influence government nowadays is to carry on organized demonstrations, "sit-ins," boycotts and picketing.

It is being suggested, therefore, that a movement may be organized for a different kind of civil-rights crusade to remove various forms of discrimination which have not hitherto been dramatized but which are causing plenty of resentment.

INDEED, A "March on Washington," for instance, may even be needed to attract widespread attention to the grievances of those workers who may lose their civil rights under proposed laws which would compel union membership as the price of a job. This type of event is widely covered by the press, television and radio. It constitutes a spectacular means of getting nationwide publicity for a cause. Also, it seems to be an effective way to win a majority in Congress.

"Demonstrations" could develop also by reason of another grievance which is likely to grow in intensity. It concerns the power of the federal government to coerce the residents of an area by withholding certain projects that would bring federal funds to their respective states. This penalizes innocent people in the state as well as those who believe they are entitled to freedom of choice in dealing with whomsoever they please in business.

IF THE CITIZENS do not conform, the federal government has a big stick which it can employ. Not only can federal contracts running into billions of dollars be canceled, but military bases and other installations can be removed wherever racial difficulties arise.

Not all the disturbances and disputes involving the use of coercive power by the federal government are confined to the South. "Civil rights" groups in Cleveland, Ohio, for example, asked the government to cancel a $32-million contract for the construction of a new federal building in that city because, it was alleged, labor unions on the project discriminate against Negroes. Even assuming that the charge were true, the proper way to get redress against discrimination is through the legal channels on the civil-rights law and not through an arbitrarily imposed penalty that affects innocent persons in the community who would be deprived of jobs because of the cancellation of such a contract.

THE CIVIL-RIGHTS law, in general terms, does authorize the cutting off of federal aid to public projects where racial discrimination is found. In the 11 states of the South, this aid amounts to more than $3 billion a year.

There are many specific ways by which the power of the federal government now can be asserted. The potent weapons include the withholding of funds for highways, relief, urban renewal, low-rent public housing, public-health services, surplus-food and school-lunch programs, and many other activities involving grants and loans. Much of the power is discretionary and could mean arbitrary action.

Birchites Use Goldwater Defeat to Open New Drive

By JACK ANDERSON

BOSTON — Almost any evening, Robert Welch, the high panjandrum of the John Birch Society, can be found in the quiet of his book-lined study in Belmont, Mass., his feet sheathed in slippers, his gray head bent over a map of the world.

The map presents the nations in varying shades of reds and pinks, denoting the degree of Communist control. Even the most right-wing dictatorships are colored light pink.

Welch regards it as his messianic mission to change the map to a politically pure white, which unaccountably he now assigns only to western Samoa.

To achieve this Communist-free map, Welch not only intends to preach the John Birch gospel across America but beyond the seas. Already the missionary work has begun. From documents available only to the society's inner circle, this column can reveal that he has made significant headway.

Recruits are signing up in record numbers in this country, and the first converts have been made overseas. Chapters reportedly are organizing in Australia, Brazil, and South Africa.

Welch has seized upon an event that has demoralized most other deep-dyed conservatives: The smash-up of Barry Goldwater's presidential bandwagon. The day after the election, Welch began grinding a new slogan through his propaganda mill: "Now will you join the John Birch Society?"

HE HAS capitalized on the despair of the conservatives, offering them an outlet for their frustration and a goal for the future. Through his right-wing channels, he has distributed thousands of bumper stickers, proclaiming: "26,000,000 Americans can't be wrong!" and "Barry in '68."

To those who harken to the call, he peddles his politics of conspiracy. He has one simple answer for all setbacks: "Treason's the reason."

He sees this country (a deep pink on his map) as virtually taken over by the Communist conspiracy. To combat it, he has launched a frenzied counter-conspiracy.

THE WIZARD OF ID

cy which he would now like to broaden to bring in respectable conservatives.

Out of the ashes of November, he hopes to build a militant, conservative movement, dedicated to fighting liberalism.

He is aware that to attract conservatives less extreme than himself, the John Birch Society has to refurbish its public image. His new line of persuasion has become more plausible, less fanatic.

HE NO LONGER suggests that "Milton Eisenhower is actually Dwight Eisenhower's superior and boss within the Communist party."

This passage has now been amended to read "boss within the whole left wing establishment."

Where once the society shunned publicity, it now seeks the limelight. The press, once beyond the pale, is courted. The society has been buying newspaper ads, including a 16-page color supplement which has appeared in some of the nation's largest newspapers.

Local leaders are also coming out of seclusion to defend their views in public. During a Kansas City debate, the Rev. Robert Hatch, a local Birch bigwig, declared that while the society "is extremist — extremely patriotic — it is not a hate group but a love group."

This brought a retort from the Rev. Allen Hingson that the JBS is a "one-man society" dominated by Robert Welch.

"If Mr. Welch tomorrow decided to wage war on marshmallows," said Father Hingson, "the members of the society would have no choice but to follow."

BEHIND THE political plastic surgery, has the face of the John Birch Society really changed?

Not at all. Robert Welch, the retired candy manufacturer, is still the same slightly built, sweet-mannered little man with the sour soul. He goes through the motions of consulting an executive council, but his word is still the unchallenged dogma of the society.

An insider, who would not permit his name to be used, confessed to this column: "Welch pulls all the strings. He decides, for example, whether a senator or congressman should be defeated. A discussion might follow, but it will concern only the ways and means. Welch makes all the decisions."

Check on Sterility Of Mate

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently my husband had a kidney infection. I have reason to believe this condition may have made him sterile. Is there such a thing as being temporarily sterile? If he is sterile, can the condition be corrected? — Mrs. M.E.

You say you have "reason to believe" that the kidney infection made him sterile, but you don't mention the reason.

Frankly, I doubt that you have reason to believe it. Oh, you may suspect that he is sterile, and attribute it to the kidney infection, but that isn't real "reason to believe."

I don't mean to argue over the meaning of words, but here's the way it looks to me:

First, the kidneys and the reproductive system are separate, and hence there is no reason to think such an infection would cause sterility.

SECOND, IS he sterile? There's nothing to be gained in speculating on infection that he had recently. The real question is his condition now. So by all means have tests made to determine whether or not he is sterile.

Third, yes, there can be temporary sterility.

And fourth, yes, many cases of sterility can be corrected, although not all. Correction depends on finding the cause and curing it. So I think you are probably leading yourself astray by speculating about the kidney infection instead of going directly at the question of sterility.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a bad infection which affects the hearing in my right ear. The doctor said my sinuses are bad, too. I am dependent on nose drops, but for about a month now I have noticed a good bit of blood when I blow my nose. I seem to recall your mentioning a booklet about sinuses. Am I right? — Mrs. F. R.

Nose drops, as the booklet points out, are a temporary expedient to shrink the tissues. They won't cure anything. They will, however, tend to dry the surfaces and quite likely may help in the bleeding.

I feel sure the booklet will be of benefit, but with the presence of that infection and the ear trouble, I urgently suggest that you get further medical treatment immediately. With your hearing affected, this is no time to try to get along with nose drops or other self-treatment. See a specialist at once. Your problem is more than just sinus trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: Every now and then I have a slight fluttering in my upper left eyelid. Could this be something serious? — Mrs. S. H.

Nothing to worry about. This can be a tic or muscle spasm of the eyelid.

Dear Dr. Molner: We read your articles on PKU with great interest because we were told that our small daughter had this, and then later that she did not. What should we believe? How could such a mistake be made? Should we have more tests? — J. L. P.

This is only one of quite a number of tests which can have "false positives." Cancer and syphilis are two outstanding ones among such — and naturally a patient (or the patient's parents!) will be terrified when the false positive is reported. Every doctor, not to mention every patient and every parent, wishes that these occasional false positives would not occur. But they do.

As to PKU, an excess of aspirin, and an excess can be very little with a baby, can cause such a result it doesn't happen often, of

Objects To Increase In Legislators' Pay
To the Editor:

My compliments to Peter F. Loughrey for saying what most of us are thinking. I, for one, am ashamed of our governor and legislators. They talk of the high cost of running the government yet spend the beginning and end of each session taking care of their personal wallets, namely doubling their salaries (legislators) and spending thousands for a home for our governor.

Is this doubling of legislators' salaries legal? If so, it shouldn't be. These men are to represent the people who elected them, and it should be these people to decide the change in salaries. If these men are operating at a financial loss why did they run for the legislature at all? If they're that bad off as businessmen we certainly don't need them running the state for us.

I don't say they've got an easy job but I certainly don't believe it calls for $400 a month wages and they only spend 2 months (60 days) in session a year. Then this is just their wages, we pay expenses while they are in session also, (and these were raised recently too.)

Now, our governor's mansion, $100,000 for remodeling, and $30,000 a year upkeep, plus our governor's salary. Pretty good pay for being a servant of the people! Sounds like we're going back in history to the age of class distinction!

I, for one, don't mind paying taxes, but I believe they're getting out of hand! When they spend hard-earned money like this, I'm not only astonished, I'm disgusted!

I'm also wondering about the legality of the income tax raise retroactive to the first of the year. Makes one wonder how far back they'll raise taxes to next.

And this is our government!

Mrs. Wesley Pierce

course, and there are other causes, but when it does happen, the only answer is to continue tests and finally be sure.

NOTE TO MRS. H. M.: A man who knows he has cirrhosis of the liver and keeps on drinking is committing gradual suicide. It would be pointless for me to try to tell you some of the early symptoms. He already has been told by two doctors that the disease has begun. His liver is enlarged. It will keep on enlarging. Beer is just as bad for him as whisky. In time he will die, but first he will go through a lot of pain and invalidism. He has to cut out the alcohol.

Dear Dr. Molner: You wrote that it is possible to enlarge such features as noses and chins. I presume by plastic surgery. How is this done? I have a receding chin. What is the approximate cost? — J. H.

It is done by "borrowing" bits of bone from some other part of the body, to be grafted. Indeed, yes, it requires a plastic surgeon. Since circumstances (and the difficulty in any specific case) vary greatly, the best I can say as to cost is that it will run to some hundreds of dollars. For a more exact estimate, ask your regular doctor to refer you to a plastic surgeon for an estimate, and then you can decide whether you want to have it done.

Mrs. M. M.: A rupture in a very small child almost always is the result of a weakness at birth. Crying too much may hasten the trouble, but doesn't cause it.

Bahamians, Costa Ricans To Miss Lake City Homes

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Extra color was added to the vocal concert presented at Lake City High School this spring when Philip Dean and Willard Samuels of Nassau, Bahamas, sang two Caribbean folk songs, "Coconut Women" and "Jamaica Farewell" in duet and danced with Sheila Barahona, Costa Rica, in charade while the mixed chorus sang.

Sheila wore her colorful native skirt and black hose. They danced behind a screen, their figures and colorful costumes moving gracefully in shadow.

All are graduating from Lincoln High School.

Sheila's found school different here than in San Jose, capital of her home country. There boys and girls schools are separated, there are no study halls, and schedules vary daily.

Classes begin at 7 a.m. and continue until 3 p.m., with a two-hour break from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. All six hours of the school day are devoted to classes; all studying is done at home.

LAST YEAR Sheila took 15 courses, this year at Lake City she had five. A class in one subject is conducted only three times a week in Costa Rica.

She likes music. She sang in the girls glee club and senior high mixed chorus. Dancing is one of her favorite pastimes, "but it's so different here," she said.

She'll stay with her AFS parents, the Francis Carlson family, until June 28, when she'll go on a month's bus trip with other AFS students before returning home. Back in San Jose she'll attend the university.

She has liked it here; she says the Carlsons have made her feel very much at home. She's the third American Field Service student in Lake City.

PHILIP and Willard graduated from high school in Nassau but repeated their senior year here to study the American school system and the U.S. way of living.

Phil, who made his home with the David McKenzies, said, "To spend a school year in America, learn to love strange people and accept the American way of life was quite an experience for me. But with the assistance of Lake Cityians my stay was made most enjoyable. I've made many friends, and am quite happy to know all Americans aren't 'Ugly Americans'."

"The biggest tourist attraction on Nassau is the native straw work industry — the hats, bags, placemats and rugs made from straw and sisal. Women make jewelry from sea shells and fish scales to sell to tourists. We travel from island to island by boat, as you travel from state to state by car."

Phil will leave for home in about a week but plans to return this fall to attend Mankato State College.

STAYING with the Leonard Simons family, Will, as his friends call Mr. Samuels, said, "After living in the Bahamas all my life, staying here has been quite an experience. I've seen a real winter and witnessed a terrible flood."

"My year in Lake City is over, and now the agony of leaving is constantly tearing me apart."

Will's plans are indefinite but after a summer at home he'd like to return to Minnesota to pursue a degree in sociology, then return to the Bahamas to work with and teach the underprivileged.

There are 700 coral reef and limestone islands in the Bahamas, some 21 inhabited. Of the million population, more than half live in Nassau. As Will said, the Bahamas have only limited agriculture but their stock in trade is their climate — the average of 76 the year-around, attracts their biggest industry, tourists.

Both boys were sponsored here by St. Mary's Church, where they were confirmed this spring by the Rev. Henry Russell.

Dominican Rebels Drag On New Plan

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebels are demanding restoration of the 1963 constitution and creation of a new government before election of a new president and congress.

The rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo, Wednesday rejected the election formula proposed by the junta headed by Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera. Caamaño termed the proposal "a fable."

The junta suggested elections be held as soon as possible under the supervision of the Organization of American States. The junta said all "democratic parties" should participate.

Brazilian troops of the Inter-American force extended the international security zone south and west Wednesday to include a key trouble spot — the National Palace. The smoothly conducted operation virtually eliminated the possibility of a serious clash between 350 junta troops that have been in the palace and rebel forces a block away.

Negro Flier Dropped From Space Program

CHICAGO (AP)—Ebony magazine says America's first—and only—Negro astronaut apparently has been dropped from the U.S. space program.

The magazine said in its June issue that the Negro astronaut Air Force Capt. Edward Dwight Jr., 31, has been rejected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for additional training.

In Washington a spokesman for NASA said it is not the agency's policy to reveal the names of persons who have applied to become astronauts.

In general reference to any applicant, the spokesman said, "If he was not selected as an astronaut, it does not mean he was not qualified. It means that someone more qualified was selected ahead of him."

"For more than a year now," Ebony said, "Dwight has not been at Cape Kennedy or one of the other sites closely identified with current space explorations, but 'out to pasture' at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio."

The magazine said Dwight, a native of Kansas City, is assigned to test bomber instrumentations.

Ebony said Dwight had been shelved from the U.S. space program because of a letter he wrote to the Department of Defense telling of "racial pressure" against him during his training at the aerospace school. "He (Dwight) talked about being 'always on trial, while other students were given help and encouragement,'" Ebony said. "He complained of 'social ostracism' and revealed that he and his wife seldom had been invited to dances and parties."

Peony, Iris Show Committee Worried by Cold Weather

"Peonies anyone?" Thinking of the long cold winter and the cold spring which followed, this is the question that is giving headaches to the Peony and Iris Show committee of the Winona Flower and Garden Club.

THEY ARE hoping that gardeners will have blossoms of the two flowers to enter in the "June Iris Bloom" show, being staged Saturday at Merchants National Bank from 2 to 8 p.m. Committee members realize that the cold winter resulted in the loss of thousands of beautiful iris plants, with the result that fewer iris will be available than in previous years.

Also, they point out, the cold spring has caused a slow-down of peony bloom, making it doubtful how many will be out in time for the show.

Every year, they say, there is a problem in picking a date well in advance, which is necessary. Even under normal conditions, it is a "gambler's choice" since one date could be too early for peonies and too late for iris.

NEVERTHELESS, the various committees have been working hard and plans for the show are now complete in every detail.

A luncheon for workers and club members will be available from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the bank; reservations should be made today.

Entry tags, the show schedule and exhibitors' numbers will be available at the meeting of the club tonight and also will be given out at the bank Saturday morning. Entries must be at the bank not later than 10:30 a.m. Saturday, when registrations will close. The entry committee will be at the bank by 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

The show is open to all amateur growers in the Winona trade area, who must have grown the flowers they enter. While professionals cannot compete, they may exhibit displays.

"A SHOW of this type requires the cooperation and devotion of a large number of people," say the co-chairmen, Mrs. Lewis Albert and Miss Maud Gernes. "Let's hope the iris and peonies of Winona and area open by Saturday to beautiful prize-winning blooms."

Show committees are as follows: Mrs. Irvin Blumentritt, Miss Gernes and Mrs. Albert, schedule; B. J. Wetzel, A. H. Lafky and Lewis Albert, staging; the Mmes. James Palmer, Gladys Gallien, W. L. Hodgins, David Tschabold and Earl Welty, reception; the Mmes. Jacob Pielmeier, Elmer Evanson, R. R. Henry, Beatrice Leonhart and C. F. Murray, entries; the Mmes. Robert Frank, A. F. Lafky, Martin Peterson, A. T. Wentworth and Miss Gernes, placement; the Mmes. Leo Brom, Roy Christensen, George and Jerome Hoepfner, luncheon; the Mmes. W. W. Lowe, Gordon Ballard, James Walz and B. J. Wetzel, judges; Mrs. R. M. Thompson, A. F. Shira and Mrs. Albert, classification; the Mmes. A. J. Large, Arthur Dorn, Francis Farrell and Karl Lipschitz, hospitality; Mrs. Francis Jilk, Mr. Shira and Mrs. Jean Hagen, publicity.

Anyone needing further information about the show, may call any of the committee members.

So HELP Me by Fran

Girls, if you are wearing one of the Dymel Switches for your hair and are wondering if you can take care of it yourself — yes, you can. At Brown Drug we have a set of directions for care of the switch — we will be glad to let you read these, and I will try to give you a few suggestions that may help — mainly just use common sense when combing and brushing — lay on a flat surface — when shampooing, use any mild type detergent and swish it in and out of the studs — do not wring or twist — keep a rubber band fastened to the end to keep it from tangling. — Why not stop at the Cosmetic Department and I will be glad to give you the help I can.

Have you tried Bonne Bell Ten-O-Six SHAMPOO — will keep your hair clean and shiny — with the same cleansing and healing ingredients that are in the Ten-O-Six lotion — very fine for hair with dandruff or oil — why not have your men in the family try it? $1.25 and $2.00.

It certainly is difficult to get much of a tan with the type of weather we are having — why not try the Q-T Lotion to get a head start on a good tan — Really the only one on the market that will give you a pretty shade of tan without sun — then when the sun does decide to shine for us — you can use the same lotion as a protection from the harmful rays of the sun.

We are expecting our shipment of Faberge this week — we will again have a good stock of the wonderful BRUT for men — It seems to be difficult to buy enough of this to keep you stocked — This will make a fine Graduation Gift or Father's Day Gift — Have you seen the little miniatures — five small bottles for five dollars? Is a nice way to start a fellow on using it — For after-shower, after shave — BRUT.

We will also be receiving the special on GUERLAIN cologne — SHALIMAR — introductory size only $3.99. We can buy this only once each summer — so it is best to buy it now, even if you are thinking of it for a gift later in the season.

For the finest in Cosmetics think of BROWN DRUG.

OTHER OFFICERS for the coming year are: Mrs. Henry Williams, vice president; Mrs. T. W. Smeed, second vice president; Mrs. A. J. Kertzman, treasurer; Mrs. A. T. Wentworth, secretary.

"THE ROLE of the Church in the Community" was the topic presented by Donald Stone, secretary of the Winona Chamber of Commerce, for the program of the afternoon. Among the questions which were presented for round table discussion were these: "Church and politics — how should the church serve in our area in local government?" "Church and business — what influence should the church have on the business patterns of the community?"

"Church and charity — to fulfill its obligations, should it support welfare programs locally, statewide and nationally?" "Church and taxes — should a church support a sales tax, be taxed, support increased income tax, support issues such as the taxite amendment?" "Church and recreation — should church members support their own programs, city programs, private programs?" "Church and education — what part should the church play in developing local public schools?"

Mr. Stone concluded his presentation by saying that church people have an obligation to exert influence by taking part in the affairs of the community and setting examples of good leadership.

"FAITH" was the basis of devotions presented by Mrs. Herman Curtis. Table decorations of red tulips and white spring flowers were planned by Mrs. Richard Callender.

Mrs. Frank presided during the afternoon, introducing the program and recognizing the annual reports of officers and chairmen. She announced the annual retreat for new officers and members of the board for June 16. An open house tea will be held for all women of the church in the afternoon from 2 to 4.

Mrs. Forsythe and Mrs. Williams, who were delegates to the recent annual meeting of the Minnesota Conference of the United Church of Christ at Le Sueur, Minn., told of the work and study programs of the conference and of the responsibility of the lay membership of the church. The goals of the church for the coming year and the missions the church supports were described.

Past presidents of the Women's Fellowship were introduced and thanked for their continued interest in the work of the women in the church. Appreciation was expressed to all of the women who helped in the recent flood emergency by cooking and supplying food to the workers.

DEAR ABBY:

Readers Want Letters Read

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Forgive me for taking exception to your viewpoint of "invasion of privacy" regarding the lady who read her parents' love letters after their death.

Have you ever read the classic, "The Letters of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning"? And if Margaret Mitchell had not read her grandmother's diary, who would have written "Gone With The Wind"? If my great-grandmother had not examined the contents of her mother's trunk a letter written by George Washington would have been destroyed.

I have saved my husband's love letters and valentines. Although my children may not be interested in reading them now, maybe after I die they will enjoy some of the sweet sentiments that are in my treasure chest.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column dealt with the same situation with which I was recently faced, and I would like to tell you how I handled it. My mother had made her home with me and my husband during her last years. I knew where she had kept her "love letters" from my father, who had preceded her in death by many, many years.

When Mother passed away, I did not read them. I felt as you, that they were private. Yet I could not bring myself to destroy those letters as I knew they must have been very precious to my mother or she would not have kept them for nearly 65 years. Before her funeral, I tied her "love letters" with a white ribbon and asked her undertaker if I might slip them into the casket to be buried with Mother. He said he thought it was a splendid idea, so I lifted the coverlet and placed them deep beside her body. I have always felt that I did what would have pleased my mother the most. Yours very truly,

HELEN G.

DEAR ABBY: So you regard it as an "invasion of privacy" to read old love letters left behind by those who have died unless the writers have indicated during their lifetime that they wished them to be read?

If my parents had left me a legacy of love letters, I would have had them published. All I got was a box containing their letters, which were filled with threats, bitter accusations, and ugly recriminations. With those letters were a divorce document, my mother's death certificate (marked "suicide") and my father's canceled insurance policy. Sign me

NO LOVE LETTERS

DEAR ABBY: The letter about "old love letters" and who has a right to read them reminded me of an experience I had back in World War II. My buddy had a hobby of writing to girls and collecting their pictures. He had a boxful. He happened to be married, but he really wasn't a bad guy. Abby, He loved his wife, but when he wasn't with the one he loved, he loved the one he was with, if you get what I mean.

Well, his number came up in North Africa, and I lost the best buddy I ever had. When they put all his stuff together to send home to his wife, I made sure she wouldn't get anything that would scar her memory of him.

NO REGRETS

DEAR ABBY: Letters are personal property and belong to heirs — whether specifically willed or not — just like money, clothing or real estate. It could even be argued that heirs have a public and social obligation to examine all effects of the deceased including correspondence, because it might have a significant bearing on the welfare of those still alive. Who can say a "love letter" is only a love letter until he has examined it? Those who wish their correspondence to remain private should destroy it, or specify that it should be kept sealed for any period of time they choose. Yours, rationally,

G. H.

Kenyon Has 4-Block Boulevard of Roses

KENYON, Minn. (AP) —This town of 1,600 in Goodhue County is doing its bit for President Johnson's "beautify America" campaign with a four-block boulevard of roses.

When the town's main street was paved 40 years ago, a central area was left for trees and shrubs.

Little was done with the space until this spring, when Harold Severson, free lance writer and photographer, raised $500 to buy 125 tree roses.

The shrubs, in a variety of colors, are leafing out and are expected to blossom after July 1.

Cooper Had Same Type Of Trouble

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The service tower trouble which delayed the launching of astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II today was reminiscent of similar trouble experienced two years ago by astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr.

With about 30 minutes to go in Cooper's countdown on May 14, 1963, the service tower surrounding his Atlas rocket was unable to move away because a diesel unit failed.

After more than an hour, the diesel was repaired. But by then radar trouble developed at a tracking station in Bermuda.

That shot had to be postponed. Cooper finally was launched on a 22-orbit mission the following day.

The Atlas service tower moves several hundred feet away from the rocket on railroad tracks.

The tower for Titan 2, being used for Gemini 4, holds away from the rocket and lays flat on the pad.

Girl Shrunk By Surgery

HYDE, England (AP) —The girl who was shrunk by surgery steps nervously back into the world today.

At 5 feet 11 inches, Anne Rowston still is tall. But eight months and four operations ago she was 6 feet 7 — and couldn't find a boy friend to match.

Anne, 19, was cut down to size by removal of four inches of bone from each leg above the knee and 3½ inches below.

She will be on crutches for a month or two. But the newspaper stories about her have brought scores of pen friends to the girl who never had a date before.

A special one is Bill Dicker, 23, a Londoner who is 6 feet 5 himself.

"His letters were a special comfort," said Anne. "He'll be my first date."

Anne learned to draw and paint while in Gobowen Hospital — the only hospital in Britain with a fulltime art tutor—Donald Foster. She hopes to make a living illustrating books and designing Christmas cards.

Bundy Would Let Results Judge Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential aide McGeorge Bundy says U.S. action in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic should be judged by its results.

While immediate and unanimous approval is not anticipated, he told an International Publishers Association luncheon Wednesday. "We expect . . . to be judged in the end by the result, by the effect" of what is done. He said U.S. power was being used in the two nations in the interest of peace and the people involved.

AT WHITEHALL

Car Hits Train, Youths Unhurt

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) —Three young people apparently escaped without a scratch when their car slammed into a westbound Green Bay & Western Railway freight on the Main Street crossing in Whitehall at 1:30 a.m. today.

Charles Otto, 16, Osseo Rt. 1, was driving the 1959 car north in the east lane of traffic and saw the train when he was near the tracks. He slammed on his brakes and skidded 26 feet 6 inches, smashing head-on into the second diesel.

HOOKED INTO the engine, the vehicle was carried along sideways across the street.

Crippled Jet Lands Safely

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Northwest Airlines disclosed Wednesday that a crippled jet circling over New York City's Kennedy Airport with 54 passengers was able to land safely because its pilot followed emergency directions radioed from Minneapolis. The incident involved a NWA Boeing 727 Saturday. There were no injuries to personnel or passengers and only slight damage to the plane.

The New York plane had developed nose wheel trouble after takeoff and Paul Soderlund, NWA chief research pilot, notified of the emergency at home, assembled a team at Twin Cities International Airport.

By radio, Capt. Harry Muldoon, pilot of the craft over New York City, was told to use up the fuel in the forward wing tanks to lighten the nose weight.

John Reiman, a NWA engineer, worked out an ideal passenger seating aboard the plane and the calculations also were relayed to Muldoon.

Then a Boeing 727 that had landed at the Twin Cities airport was sent aloft twice on test runs to determine wing lift and flaps regulation and this information was radioed to Muldoon. He was told to request that the airport runway be treated with a fire-preventative foam, which also would smooth the plane's path.

Muldoon landed the plane smoothly and hardly any paint was scratched.

Man Killed, Car Slips off Jack

OSHKOSH, Wis. — Robert Woodland, 47, Oshkosh, died at a hospital here Tuesday night of injuries sustained a few hours earlier when his car slipped off a jack and crushed him. He was changing oil in the car when the accident happened.

Woodland was the stepfather of Douglas A. Dahlke, who was convicted of second degree murder last July after he admitted shooting to death, his wife, Gloria. Dahlke drove the body from Reno, Nev., to Oshkosh and buried it in Woodland's basement. Dahlke was sentenced to the Nevada state prison.

2 Navy Fliers Dead in Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two Navy fliers, including the son of a Milwaukee newspaperman, were killed Wednesday when a P4B Phantom jet fighter crashed and burned 35 miles east of Barstow, Calif., during a test of its weapons system.

The Navy identified the dead fliers, both from Miramar Naval Air Station, at Lt. (jg) Charles D. Collins Jr., 25, the pilot, of Milwaukee; and Ens. William E. Addis, 31, the radar officer, of Anderson, S.C. Cause of the crash was not determined.

Collins was the son of Charles D. Collins Sr., travel editor of The Milwaukee Sentinel and director of the Sentinel's Sports-Travel and Boat Show. The younger Collins was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1962.

One Minor Injury
In Two Crashes

One minor injury and $525 damage resulted from two collisions on Winona streets Wednesday, police reported.
Dennis Dorsch, 17, 173 Mankato Ave., was treated for facial cuts at Community Memorial Hospital and released after a collision on 3rd Street, 150 feet east of Main Street, at 4:40 p.m.

DORSCH HAD been riding on the back of a motorcycle being driven east on 3rd Street by Michael J. Sieracki, 212 Mankato Ave. The collision occurred when Mrs. Robert J. Podjaski, 426 W. King St., drove north out of an alley into 3rd Street.

Damage was $200 to the left side of the Podjaski car and $150 to the front of the motorcycle. Patrolmen George M. Liebsch and John A. Erickson investigated.

A collision occurred at 3:51 p.m. on U. S. 61-14, 600 feet east of the highway entrance to Miracle Mall, according to police.

Royal C. Happel, 657 E. Sanborn St., was driving west on the highway in the right-hand lane and was being passed by an unidentified vehicle when the collision occurred with a third westbound vehicle driven by Thomas A. Groski, 17, Lewiston.

GROSKI WAS moving faster than either of the two vehicles ahead of him who formed a sort of moving roadblock on the highway, according to the police report. Unable to pass and unable to slow down in time, Groski's car struck Happel's pickup truck in the rear.
Damage was $25 to the pickup and $150 to the front of the car. Patrolman Lyle E. Lattman investigated.

Pilot Error
Blamed in Nodine Crash

The pilot who died Dec. 23 near Winona in the wreck of his private plane was criticized for inadequate flight preparation in a report issued by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Wednesday.

CAB specifically blamed the crash on loss of control by pilot Calvin L. Brown, Roselle, Ill., during bad weather. The report noted that Brown was not qualified to fly on instruments.

Brown had radioed the La Crosse flight service station shortly before crashing that his "directional gyro" was not working and that he was in an overcast.

CAB was unable to find evidence of a gyro malfunction but noted that icing could have occurred. It was unable to give a specific reason for the loss of control which resulted in Brown's death.

The wreckage of Brown's plane was found south of Winona near Nodine Dec. 26. He had been flying alone, apparently on a trip from Roselle to St. Cloud, Minn.

Red Wing School
Escapee Admits
Thurrow Burglary

The Tuesday night burglary of Thurrow Industries Inc., 363 W. 3rd St., was solved Wednesday with the apprehension of a juvenile escapee from the Red Wing Training School, Police Chief James W. McCabe said today.

Chief McCabe said that his office had been alerted Tuesday to be on the lookout for the boy, who was known to have friends in Winona. Patrolmen Richard D. Peterson and Sylvester J. Rotering picked up the youth Wednesday at 12:10 a.m.

THE YOUTH was questioned Wednesday morning before being returned to Red Wing and admitted the Thurrow burglary. Capt. Marlowe L. Brown and Policewoman Carol A. Altbeld did the questioning.

Nearly all of the $5 worth of stamps taken in the burglary was recovered and returned to W. J. Thurrow, Chief McCabe said today. The chief did not make reference to the estimated 60 cents in loose change also scooped up by the youth.

According to the chief, the boy got in to Winona Tuesday at 5 p.m. after hitchhiking from Red Wing. He had been working outside the training school and simply walked away, the chief explained.

THE YOUTH committed the burglary in the seven hours between his arrival here and his apprehension. He gained entry to the Thurrow building by raising an apparently unlocked rear window, according to a police report.

Thurrow reported Wednesday that the burglar had overlooked a petty cash box kept in a desk drawer. The box contained $15 to $20, Thurrow estimated.

No charges will be pressed against the youth in juvenile court here, Chief McCabe said today.

City Still Taking
Reservations for Prairie Island

Picnic reservations of Latsch Prairie Island Park facilities still are being accepted, the park-recreation department said today.

No one knows for sure, the department added, when flood control work will begin or whether roads will remain open when that happens.

Park shelters, camping and picnic grounds are open and are being used. Some groups which have made reservations at the park are looking for alternate sites, the department said, in case they are unable to use facilities on the desired dates.

A federal warrant has been issued against an Omaha, Neb., sales company operating in a similar manner but selling "city service" training, Brown said. He added that no connection between the Minneapolis and Omaha companies has been shown.

Winonans should be very much on their guard when approached by representatives of sales firms attempting to sell training, however, according to Brown.

Police Warn of Salesmen With Training Courses

City police issued a warning today to Winonans to be cautious when approached by door-to-door salesmen selling training courses.

A Winona family reported to police Wednesday that they had bought a course in computer training from a salesman May 28. They had given him $50 cash as a down payment, and the salesman gave them no receipt, the family reported.

Capt. Marlowe L. Brown, checking on the Minneapolis-based company, found that the Minneapolis Better Business Bureau would not give the company a clean bill of health. The company is not a Minnesota corporation.

Brown said that its date of organization is May 9, and that

Phelps Pupils Told How To Conquer Inner Space

"Conquest of Inner Space"

was discussed by Robert Sabin, a former teacher at Phelps School, at annual promotion exercises for Phelps ninth graders at Somsen Hall auditorium on the Winona State College campus Wednesday evening.

Certificates of promotion were presented to the class of 23 students by Miss Magda Talle and John Kane, members of the Phelps faculty, and after the program members of the class were honored at a reception. Dr. Howard Munson, Phelps principal, presided at the program.

NOW AN instructor at Apostolic Bible Institute, St. Paul, Sabin prefaced his address by quoting from a newspaper story that read: "Already a man can burrow in the earth like a mole, skim the ocean like a gull. By means of his far-reaching antennae he can speak and hear at a distance, see what takes place miles away and draw pictures with the intangible pencil of light. In these days when we can take a photograph through a brick wall and carry on a conversation through miles of mountains or across vast stretches of ocean, there seems little else to expect by way of fresh wonders."

He noted that this statement was an excerpt from a 1909 newspaper and expressed the hope that the minds of today's young people—whose lives will develop beyond the capabilities now foreseen for them — would be led toward attitudes that will tend to create the inner harmony of understanding among men.

QUOTING statistics that show that three billion people have died in wars in 300 years, that streets and playgrounds of our nation are not safe and that there are 4 million emotionally disturbed children in this country, Sabin asserted that these represent conclusive evidence that "education of the inner man, in inner space, needs closer scrutiny."

"A recalled wish of a sixth-grader that a great wall could be built along the eastern seaboard large enough to repel missiles from reaching us, and ours from

Judging Cattle? Here Are Tips

ALMA, Wis. — "Buffalo County 4-H dairy project members must spend many hours in practice judging sessions in preparation for the county judging program June 11 and the district June 29," said Albert C. Frankenstein, 4-H club agent.

"Judging is a skill developed through experience and knowledge of good dairy cattle. Dairy members also must understand the score card and correct dairyman terminology."

"ON THE score card, general appearance counts 30 points, dairy character, 20, body capacity, 20 and mammary system, 30."

"The mammary system must be able to produce heavily for many years without breaking down. Be aware of this while judging and look for an udder that is strongly attached, well-balanced, long, wide and deep and one that is soft and pliable after milking. The rear udder attachment should be high and firm; the fore attachment should be strong and lead smoothly into the body. Teats should be cylindrical, moderate in size and squarely placed under the quarters."

"A heavy-producing cow needs a lot of roughage. Therefore, she must have a large body capacity. A long, deep cow with ribs highly and widely sprung will have this capacity. She should be an animal with a deep-heart girth and wide-chest front which allows space for her heart and lungs to work."

"A cow with good dairy character looks angular and open in her ribbing. This indicates an efficient, milk producing cow rather than a cow that puts fat on her back. She will have sharp withers, in-curling thighs and prominent hips and pins. Her neck will be long and lean, blending smoothly into the shoulders."

"ALL BODY parts should blend smoothly and create an impression of femininity, vigor and style. Check closely for a straight, level topline from withers to tail head."

"The rump should be wide and nearly level. Legs and feet must be strong, straight and squarely placed under the animal. They must be strong enough to carry her for her entire life."

"Also important are her breed characteristics. To get a good impression of dairy and breed type, study pictures of former national winners. The characteristics for all five breeds plus an evaluation of physical defects are given on the score card."

Houston Girl Named To Attend State 4-H Health Camp in Park

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Judy Lee, 17, Houston, will represent Houston County at the 13th annual State 4-H Health Camp next week at the University of Minnesota's Forestry and Biological Station in Itasca State Park.

Swine Program Set At Mondovi June 10

MONDOVI, Wis. — A special swine program for 4-H and FFA members will be held June 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Mondovi Testing Station, Albert Frankenstein, Buffalo County 4-H agent, said.

The topic will be gilt selection based upon performance records and physical soundness. Discussion will include live animal comparisons on daily rate of gain, feed conversion efficiency and back fat thickness.

3 Area FFA Members Ask For Top Honor

Three area FFA state farmers who have graduated from high school during the last three years have submitted applications for the American Farmer degree, the highest degree in the FFA programs, according to W. J. Kortessmaki, state FFA executive treasurer.

They are: Gary D. Luchmann and Robert J. Miller, both of Lewiston, and David W. Stegemann, Wabasha.

The minimum qualifications for the American Farmer degree include: Applicant must have earned at least $1,000 by his own efforts from farming and agricultural work and have it deposited in a bank or else have it productively invested, and show outstanding ability as evidenced by his leadership and community service activities.

The state FFA reviewing committee will recommend to the national FFA board of directors and student officers 14 candidates from this year's nominees. Each state is entitled to one American Farmer for each 1,000 members so Minnesota's 14,236 members entitles the state to 14 American Farmer degree candidates.

Minnesota Price Received Index Gains 10 Points

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The index of prices received by Minnesota farmers in mid-May at 86 was up 3 points from a month earlier and 10 points above a year ago, according to the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service of the Minnesota and U.S. departments of Agriculture.

Compared with the previous month, livestock prices averaged 10 points higher, and crops 1 point higher. Dairy products remained the same while poultry and egg prices averaged 7 points lower. Compared with a year earlier, livestock prices averaged 17 points higher, crops 9 points higher, dairy products 2 points higher, and poultry and eggs 1 point higher.

The increase in the livestock index from a month earlier resulted from increases of 33 percent for hogs, 70 cents for cattle, $3.10 for calves, and $1.60 for lambs. Sheep prices averaged $1.20 per hundredweight lower. Compared with a year earlier, hog prices averaged $5.40 per hundredweight higher, cattle $1.80, calves $1.50, and lambs $2.20. Sheep prices were 80 cents per hundredweight lower.

Milk prices averaged $3.26 per hundredweight, up 1 cent from mid-April and 10 cents above a year ago.

Egg prices were 21 cents per dozen, 5 cents lower than the previous month and 1 cent lower than a year ago. Farm chicken prices averaged 5.5 cents per pound in mid-May, the same as a month earlier, but down 1 cent from a year ago. Turkey prices at 25 cents per pound were up 1 cent from the previous month and 4 cents from a year earlier.

Ramrod Herbicide OKed for Some Uses

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Ramrod herbicide, known as CP 31393, has been cleared for pre-emergence use on soybeans grown for seed only, reports Harlie Larson, Houston County extension soils agent. Soybeans sprayed with CP 31393 cannot be used for feed, food or oil purposes.

Previously, CP 31393, known as Ramrod, has been cleared for pre-emergence use on field corn grown for seed or corn. Corn sprayed with CP 31393 cannot be grazed or used for silage.

This chemical has not been adequately tested, however 1964 tests were promising, he said. Both corn and soybeans have good tolerance with no apparent injury at 10 pounds per acre of active ingredient. It has a fairly long lasting effect in the soil. There have been no residue problems.

Ramrod is available in limited amounts this year. It is formulated in 65 percent wettable powder or 20 percent granules. This chemical is included in this year's county herbicide plots.

Arcadia Area Brown Swiss Herd Classified

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — The Eugene Haines and Sons herd of registered Brown Swiss, near Arcadia in Trout Run, has been classified by the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association of America, Beloit, Wis.

Type classification, like production testing, is one of the official herd improvement services of the National Brown Swiss Association. Animals not previously classified are given a type rating.

In the Courtland herd, one cow was rated excellent, 5 good plus and one good.

Cool, Wet Weather Delays Crops More

WABASHA, Minn. — "The cool, wet weather has delayed further crop progress in Wabasha County," says Matt Metz, county agent.

"Most corn is planted. Soybeans are about 50 percent planted. Hay crops are in all stages, some ready to be cut while others are uneven. Moisture conditions are good at this stage," he says.

"A WEED spray plot was put in on the Ernest Stehr farm at Lake City last week."

Others will go in this week.

These plots are used to compare old and new weed control chemicals for their effectiveness in controlling all kinds of weeds.

"Farmers can increase yields and profits from corn and soybeans by controlling weeds when they are just sprouting."

"Research has shown that weeds which reduce yields the most are the ones that come up at the same time as the crop. These early weeds compete for water, nutrients and light when the young corn and soybean plants are getting established."

"In recent university field tests, timely cultivations resulted in substantial yield increases. Corn yields were from four to 19 bushels per acre higher when cultivated even where pre-emergence herbicides were used."

"WHERE herbicides were used on soybeans, yields were five to ten bushels more when cultivated. Where no herbicides were used, cultivation increased corn yields 34 bushels per acre and soybean yields, nine bushels per acre."

"Cultivation profits will be greatest if weeds are controlled early with a rotary hoe, spike tooth harrow or the finger weeder of the cultivator. These implements work best where weeds are germinating and up to the time that they are one-fourth inch tall."

"Cultivation at the time of weed germination is effective and economical. It gets rid of weeds before they rob corn and soybeans of needed water, nutrients and light. Since the weeds are most tender at the early stage, they are easiest to kill. Cultivation at this stage will not cause crop root damage."

"PRE-EMERGENCE herbicides give effective early weed control if there is adequate rainfall, but usually some weeds will escape. It is advisable not to delay cultivation if weeds are coming through."

"Use of the rotary hoe or similar equipment under dry conditions may actually improve chemical performance. If the herbicide has been banded and is working, it is possible to delay the first cultivation."

"Don't let the weeds in the middle get too big. It's difficult to do a good job cultivating after the weeds get past the seedling stage and grasses start spreading."

"Avoid throwing soil into the row during cultivation if the herbicide is working. This will keep the new weed seeds out and help to keep the row clean."

Neglected Soil Practices Cause Root SWCD Erosion

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Erosion this spring in the Root River Soil and Water Conservation district has been from 15-20 tons per acre, said Harold Dineen, county conservationist.

It is a high figure despite the fact that most farmers in the district practice soil conservation on their land, he said.

The past several years have been years of low rainfall and little erosion. Because of this many people have felt they had too much conservation and altered their programs. This spring is a reawakening for the need of good conservation practices, Dineen said.

Conservation practices were changed by farmers in many ways. One simple practice was to use a rotation with not enough hay. Some farmers had a good strip cropping system, then doubled strips to make them wider. Plowing through waterways shows up as a bad practice this year. Waterways were not left in terraced fields. Now one can see waterways should be left in grass. Terrace ridges should not be lowered as they were in some places; this can cause water to run over them.

Many practices will be replaced to proper condition after this year, said Dineen. Practices will be adopted where they weren't used in the past. This can be done by contacting the Soil Conservation Service.

Dineen said erosion is a very costly event to farmers just in the fertility lost with soil that has washed away. The need for good conservation work is as great today as it was 15 to 25 years ago.

ASCS Offers New Practice For Cover Kill

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Henrik R. Herness, office manager of the Trempealeau County ASCS, announced that a new special practice is available in the county for re-establishment of permanent vegetative cover destroyed or seriously damaged by drought or winterkill.

"It is not necessary that the farmer file his request for cost-sharing before starting the practice, but the request must be filed by June 26," Herness said.

"Federal cost-sharing may be allowed to re-establish permanent vegetative cover destroyed or seriously damaged by drought in 1964 or by the severe winter conditions in 1964-1965. This practice may be used only if the land devoted to such cover will be subject to serious wind or water erosion unless a permanent vegetative cover is re-established.

"All operations must be completed by June 15. Cost-sharing is limited to the acres in excess of the normal seedings for the farm as determined by the county committee. The area must be completely re-established as cost-sharing is not authorized under this practice for improvement measures on existing cover.

"The specifications are as follows: Preparing a satisfactory seed bed by plowing or disking enough times to obtain the required results; applying lime if the producer so chooses; applying fertilizer if the producer so chooses, but no cost-sharing allowed for fertilizer used; seeding with only the seedling mixtures established for the state and the fields must remain in vegetative cover until Sept. 30, 1966.

"The maximum rate of cost-sharing is $2 per acre for seed-bed preparation and $2 per acre for seeding."

FOR FARM DAMAGE

Trempealeau, Pepin Allocated Flood Aid

Of $80,000 made available through the U.S. Department of Agriculture to five Wisconsin counties for aid for repair of flood damage to farmers, Trempealeau County has been allocated $4,751, and $1,800 has been authorized for Pepin County.

The state's first counties chosen for emergency conservation assistance were these two and Crawford, Dunn and Pierce.

THE COST-sharing projects must be approved by county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said.

Freeman said priority will be given to flood repair projects already under way and to others started by June 30.

Henrik Herness, Trempealeau County ASC office manager, said projects will include repairs to sod waterways, stream banks and other established practices damaged by spring floods. Farmers should make their request for cost-sharing at the ASC office in Whitehall.

Projects will be serviced by the Soil Conservation Service, which will make recommendations on what repairs qualify.

Earl Anderson, Pepin County ASC office manager, said work there will include repair of dikes, establishing new dikes, and removing debris and sand deposits left on farmland.

Most Pepin County farmland damage occurred along the Chippewa and Eau Galle rivers. Although the Chippewa didn't go as high this year as some years, the water stayed high a long time, leaving considerable debris.

THE EAU GALLE River, flaring suddenly from such heavy rain as fell there Tuesday, causes heavy erosion which will need repair. The Eau Galle runs from the north southeasterly through the county.

Little damage to farmlands was done in Pepin County by the biggest flood in history on the Mississippi River this spring. Land along the Mississippi is subject to some washing all the time, Anderson said. The problem along its banks is principally debris.

Pepin County, Anderson said, has received $1,000 for re-establishing winter-killed legumes. Losses were severe where the grasses were grazed too close to the ground at last cutting in the fall, leaving little protection against the unusually heavy frost and ice cover of the cold season.

Rev. Rekstad To Speak at WHS Service

The Rev. Harold Rekstad, pastor of First Congregational Church, will deliver the sermon at the baccalaureate service for the 1965 graduating class at Winona Senior High School Sunday evening at Senior High School auditorium.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with the Rt. Rev. Harold J. Dittman, rector of Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, pronouncing the invocation and benediction and the Rev. O. S. Monson, Evangelical United Brethren Church, the scripture reading.

The procession will be played on the organ by Frank Brandt and the Senior High choir under the direction of Meryl Nichols will sing. Soloists with the choir will be Margaret McGrath and Bruce Odell.

Commencement exercises for this year's class will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Jefferson Stadium.

Four seniors, John Schramm, Marjorie Beckman, Margaret McGrath and Carolyn McCown, will be speakers.

The class will be presented by Principal Robert H. Smith for award of diplomas by Ray Gorsuch, 1st Ward representative on the Board of Education, whose daughter is a member of the graduating class.

54 to Graduate At Spring Grove

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — A class of 54 will receive diplomas at commencement exercises at 8 p.m. today at the school auditorium from Leonard Skaalen, school board president. The class will be presented by Supl. V. E. Hornuth.

Roger Fossum will give the salutatory. David Holland the valedictory, and Susan Wold and Pearl Schutteimer, honor students, also will speak. The high school band, D. W. Gjerdum directing, will play procession and recessional. The high school choir, directed by Almore Mathsen, will sing. The Rev. Otto Larsen will give invocation and benediction.

Other honor students are Dorothy Anderson, Gineanne Ostern, Richard Pitel and Linda Reed. Other graduates are: Paul and Timothy Abbott, Linda Benica, Carol Birgen, Linda Bravoy, Norman Bravoy, Linda Dravold, Norman and Susan Ellingsen, William Evenson, Ringer Ison, Susan Gervase, Deane Joyce and Wayne Gullikson.

Patricia Oussner, Dennis and Sharon On-Jod, David Pousner, Laura Rud, Joel Skauge, Betty Tollerud, Lowell and Thomas Trebus, Kathleen Twisto and Karen Wold.

The auditorium will be decorated with the class colors, red and white, the flower, the rose, and the motto: "If we learn how to give ourselves, to forgive others, and to live with thanksgiving, we need not seek happiness — it will seek us."

budget sets aside $900 for the greens and their installation. New decorations, it goes on to say, would cost about $6,000 initially, and their installation costs would be higher.

Somehow, with the weather the way it is, the merchants' consideration of Christmas decorations seems almost timely.

MEMORIAL . . . Members of the Winona Flower and Garden Club watch Park Superintendent Bruce Reed plant a flowering crab in memory of deceased club members, the late Frank Metille and Carpenter Buck. The tree is in an arboretum established this year by the club and the park-recreation department at the intersection of Huff Street and Highway 61. Several other species have been planted and more will be added. (Daily News photo)

ADJACENT TO 61

City Establishing Arboretum at Lake

A reclaimed, once-useless area southeast of the Huff Street bridge now is the site of a newly established park-recreation department arboretum.

More than 30 trees have been planted this spring by department crews. Several varieties are represented and the number of different species is expected to increase.

Participating in the development is the Winona Flower and Garden Club, which already has sponsored memorial plantings for two former members, the late Carpenter Buck and Frank Metille.

Once a marsh, the land was built up several years ago by lake-bottom dredge deposits. It has been stabilized to some degree in recent years by a heavy grass cover which department crews mow regularly.

As the arboretum expands, paths will be laid out among the plantings. Each species of tree or shrub will be labeled. Strollers will be able to observe trees or bushes in full or partial development and, as a result, develop plantings of their own, said M. J. Bambenek, director of parks and recreation.

Added to a scattering of existing American elms this spring were evergreens and two varieties of flowering crab, Vanguard and Red Radiant. Evergreens include white pine and spruce.

Blood Goal Met For Single Day

The Red Cross blood drive passed its quota for the day Wednesday, but it is still a few pints behind the goal for the drive this far.

Collected Wednesday were 127 pints of blood. There were 15 persons rejected, but — since rejectees count toward the quota — the total for the day is 142 pints.

Added to Tuesday's figure of 90 pints, this gives the drive 232 pints for its first two days.

THE QUOTA for that period, however, is 250 pints. Daily collections should average 125 pints if the drive is to reach its goal of 500 pints during the four-day collection period here.

Wednesday's total included 19 first-time donors, Mrs. Carl Breitlow, blood chairman, said. The outlook for today and Friday was not too encouraging, officials said. Only 59 persons had made appointments to donate blood today, and there were only 15 who had signed up for Friday.

Unless this increased markedly this afternoon and Friday morning, the drive will fall short of its goal, Red Cross workers pointed out.

The bloodmobile will be operating at the Red Cross center, 5th and Huff streets, until 6 p.m. today. Friday's hours will be 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

WEDNESDAY's repeat donors were led by Leo J. McCaffrey, who has given more than five gallons of blood. Others were:

Four gallons or more — John F. Eifealdt, Lewis Burt, Sister Marian and Dan Bambenek.

Three gallons or more — Mrs. Gene Bergier, Leo J. Lange, Jack Nelson, Robert Becker, Walter W. Williams, Francis Lanik, Fred A. Thurlay and Walter H. Schmidt.

Two gallons or more — William A. Laurie, Thomas Buck, Mrs. Pat Maloney, William Lang, E. M. McCullough, Mrs. Paul Bilder, T. W. Smeed, Sister Ronald, John Wildenborg, Charles R. Smith, Eugene Frank, Wallace Northhouse, Albert King, Victor Bohnen and Harold I. Thaldorf.

One gallon or more — Bernard A. Benson, Miss Mary Ann Theis, Mrs. Richard Callender, William Sonsalla, Leland Larson, Jerry L. Young, Marlow Kram, Mike Hengel, Miss Lillian H. Rott, Mrs. Meryle Ny-

Bank of England Rate Is Reduced

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England rate, which sets the pattern for interest charges in the sterling bloc, was cut today from 7 to 6 per cent.

The 7 per cent rate had been in effect since Nov. 23, when the Labor government jumped it from 5 per cent in an attempt to bolster the pound sterling by encouraging the investment of foreign funds in Britain.

However, the high rate damped down borrowing for business expansion and housing mortgages. The government had been anxious to reduce it as soon as possible.

Buchli Proposes Consumer Laws

INDEPENDENCE, Wis.—Butfalopierce County Assemblyman Milton Buchli is co-author of what he describes as "one of the most comprehensive consumer protection efforts ever put before a Wisconsin Legislature."

The bills would create a consumer council and enact "truth-in-packaging" and "truth-in-lending" laws. Two other bills would tighten considerably existing laws governing cancellation or nonrenewal of automobile liability insurance and laws governing use of fraudulent advertising.

One bill provides that a consumer could appear before the consumer council, which would represent him before boards and agencies on such matters as utility rate increases and railroad service curtailment.

Regarding the truth bills, Buchli said, "We all know that unscrupulous operators are a small minority in the business community. Their aim is to fleece the public, but they often hurt the legitimate businessman. They absorb large sums of consumer dollars that would normally reach the honest businessman's cash register, and their activities often give a black eye to the whole business community."

Shotgun Blast Kills Kenosha Man

W. Spaulding, 36, was killed said Spaulding, father of two children, apparently dropped the shotgun while examining it and the blast struck him in the head.

Merchants Say They Like Greens For Christmas

Christmas may be half a century away, but it's been on the mind of the Winona Chamber of Commerce retail division.

Remember those new street decorations that were hung on lamp posts along Main Street last Christmas? They were shiny stars and bells, there so that merchants could compare them with the natural green garlands that traditionally hang over downtown streets during the holiday season.

Well, compare them the merchants did, with this result (as reported in the latest retail division bulletin): "Survey of membership reveals a natural greens preferred over imitation glitter."

The bulletin goes on to point out that the division's annual

Sitdown Idles Kenosha Plants

KENOSHA, Wis. (U-P) — Production at both American Motors Corp. plants in Kenosha was halted by a sitdown which began Wednesday afternoon and spread to the second shift.

The actions resulted in 3,000 workers at the Milwaukee body plant being sent home halfway through the night shift.

The dispute was reportedly triggered by an argument between a woman worker and company timekeepers. She was asked by a supervisor to take another job because in his opinion she was not qualified for her job of inserting screws in head lights.

While the woman and Russo conferred with company representatives, employees in the main plant staged a sitdown until its shift ended. The night shift started another sitdown a half hour later after rumors that the woman and two assembly line union stewards had been dismissed.

An estimated 5,000 workers eventually walked out when told to return to their jobs or go home.

St. Thomas Welcomes Mrs. Johnson

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, V.I. (AP) — This tropic island gave Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson a warm welcome on her first visit here and the governor added "the keys to our hearts."

In Emancipation Gardens where slaves were freed more than a century ago, a crowd of about 7,000 turned out to cheer the First Lady as she noted "the impressive way equality was translated into reality in these islands."

Mrs. Johnson is here to make a commencement address to night at the first graduation of the College of the Virgin Islands. She aimed to get a few days vacation.

Banners in the streets of Charlotte Amalie, the capital of this island of some 40,000 persons, proclaimed "Welcome Mrs. Johnson" as she drove from the airport in a white convertible. Youngsters ran alongside. In the five-acre palm-fringed gardens, a steel band greeted her with calypso strains.

Hatless in the tropic sun, wearing a peach linen suit with a gay print scarf at the neck, she smilingly told the crowd what a bargain the United States got when it purchased the islands from Denmark in 1917 for $25 million.

"We have only to look at last year's cash register," Mrs. Johnson said, "for in one year alone the Virgin Islands bought $70 million worth of goods from the states."

She relayed greetings from the President and said this was her first trip here, "but I already know it won't be my last."

Twins Bombard Sox With 2-Run Homers

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The Minnesota Twins, who rattled eight homers at Boston in two games last week, are keeping up the bombardment against the Red Sox in the Twins' home park.

Two-run blows by Harmon Killebrew and Jimmie Hall paved the way for a 6-3 victory over the Sox Wednesday night, but a fine relief pitching job by Jim Perry got equal credit.

Perry, now 3-0, remained in the unbeaten circle along with Jim Grant (5-0) and Camilo Pascual (6-0).

But it was Grant who started the game, got into quick trouble and continued to give the Twins reason to fret over his ineffectiveness after his fine early-season form.

The Sox got to him for five hits and two runs before Perry shut the door and the homer hitters unlimbered the timber.

Pascual was the pitching nominee against Bill Monboquette (5-4) in today's afternoon game. The Washington Senators move in Friday night.

The victory gave the Twins a full-game cushion in first place in the American League due to Chicago's rainout.

Former Twin Lenny Green went 3-for-5 and led off against Grant with a single. Grant wild-pitched him home after two infield outs. In the second inning, Boston's Bob Tillman led off with a home run, pitcher Jim Lonborg singled. Green singled again, and that was all for Grant.

Perry then retired 13 men in order and would have made it 16 except for an error on Zoilo Versalles. It was his longest relief stretch of the season. Green's third single in the seventh broke a string of eight scoreless innings for the 29-year-old righthander.

Ko-Mets Add Baseball Title

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—Kasson-Mantorville is the District Three baseball champion. It is all as simple as three pickoff plays can make a 2-1 game.

Crafty lefthander, Mick Shelstad, caught four Winhawk base runners leaning the wrong way here Wednesday afternoon and the opportunistic Ko-Mets picked off the biggest trophy as mate to the one they won in wrestling.

STILL, as veteran Coach Ed Spencer said, there was nothing several base hits couldn't have cured. The only difference was, Kasson-Mantorville got them and Winona didn't.

As is fitting in a championship game, festivities went down to the wire before the Ko-Mets punched over the winning run in the last of the sixth and then stilled a Winona rally in the top of the seventh.

score was knotted 1-1. Then Bill Tietje shifted a hit into left field as leadoff hitter. He was cut down on a fielder's choice when Wayne Morris dropped Dick Swalla's fly to right but recovered in time to get the force at second.

DAN BUEGLER put runners at first and second with a single and brought in Todd Spencer in relief of John Ahrens. He walked tiny Dewey Olson to load the bases and then struck out Tom Brekke to ease the tension. Two quick strikes ripped past No. 1 hitter Bruce Vail and the next pitch looped into right for the game-winning single. Tim Murphy struck out.

John Ahrens breathed a spark of life into the stunned Hawks by sailing a 0-and-1 pitch into right for a single and Dave Bauer put men on second and third after missing a bunt attempt when Tim Murphy erred at third on the bounce.

Morris tried to sacrifice, but Ahrens was forced at third. Then came a questionable play: Shelstad flipped to first on a pickoff attempt and Morris belied into the base. He was called out and Bob Urness' strikeout ended the contest.

"I thought Morris was safe," said Spencer. "But evidently the umpire (Red Cochran) didn't. It might have made a difference. Maybe it wouldn't have."

Winona drew first blood, scoring in the first inning when Gary Addington and Jim Doyle reached base on errors. Spencer walked and Loren Benz spiked a double over the left field fence on one bounce.

The Ko-Mets tied it on an unearned run in the fourth. Dennis Segar singled and was cut down on a double-play ball to Bauer. The relay from R. D. Boschulte was wild after he was hit during the attempt by the sliding Segar. Tietje stopped on second.

Swalla grounded out, but Dan Buegler's single drove in Tietje with the tying run.

MEANWHILE, Shelstad, who gave up five hits while striking out eight and walking three, picked off Doyle and Spencer in the third inning and Bauer in the fourth.

Ahrens' win string was checked at six games. His five and one-third inning log showed six hits, one of two runs earned, seven strikeouts and two walks. Spencer gave up the single hit, one walk and two strikeouts.

While Kasson-Mantorville will carry a 12-1 record into the Region One tournament at Caledonia Monday, Winona's season was stopped at 8-8.

The Ko-Mets will meet Austin or Alden at 4 p.m. Monday with District One (Harmony or Spring Grove) meeting District Four (Northfield or Faribault) at 8 p.m. The finals are slated for 8 p.m. Thursday.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

MAX MOLOCK, VETERAN Winona baseballer, will miss the debut of the team he worked so hard to start.

Molock will be on the shelf when the Winona Athletics travel to Caledonia for an exhibition game Tuesday.

Max underwent surgery at Rochester Tuesday and probably will be hospitalized until June 9 or 10.

That means he still will be back in time to occupy the third base coaching box when the Athletics make their Southern Minnesota League debut June 13 against the Rochester Travelers.

To Max go our best wishes for a smooth and speedy recovery.

WHILE MOLOCK IS convalescing, team practice sessions are under the capable direction of former Winona State greats Gary Grob and Jon Kosidowski and Jim Klein, Froedtert Malt manager and board of directors member.

Grob reports that the team is starting to take shape with only Mark Dille and Bob Lieutau left to join the club from teaching positions in Boscobel, Wis., and Ellendale, Minn.

Grob reported the following players on hand at a Tuesday drill: Rog Leonhardt, Gary Grabow, Dick Papenfuss, Davis Usgaard, Al Connor, Dave Heise, Pat Boland, Wayne Storslee, Bob Welch and Roger Roepke. Kosidowski also will be with the club, but was out of town Tuesday.

MENTIONING THAT MOLOCK is hospitalized recalled a conversation with softballer Max Kulas.

Kulas reported that Earl Kreuzer, in the hospital after suffering a stroke in February, is showing signs of improvement.

"It's going to take a while," said Max, "but he is using a wheel chair to get around now. It is starting to come."

To Earl, longtime softball pitching star, go our hopes for a complete comeback.

IT HAS BEEN QUITE a year for Austin Pacelli and Dave Cobb. The Shamrocks added the state baseball crown to their basketball becoming the fourth team in the tournament's to cop both in the same year.

Lobb was the stalwart, pitching Pacelli past New Ulm 1-0 in the first round and past St. Paul Cretin 3-0 in the championship game. The 6-7 athlete, who has signed a tender to the University of Nebraska, allowed four hits and struck out 22 in his two games. He also was named the most valuable player in the state Catholic basketball tournament.

While we're praising the Shamrocks, let's not forget Cotter, Pacelli had to beat the Ramblers for the basketball championship and also in the regional playoff to gain entrance to the basketball tournament.

What it adds up to is a striking 1964-65 success tale for Southern Minnesota parochial schools.

COMING ON THE HEELS of its success, it appears that Pacelli is in line to host what will be a package deal of state Catholic spring sports.

If the Austin school gets the nod, it will include golf, tennis, track and baseball, for 1966.

Minnesota Catholic Education Association executive director LeRoy Brown likes the idea of the spring sports festival with a change that would make the baseball tournament a two instead of one-day affair.

"We would like to run the baseball Saturday and Sunday," he says, "Saturday night could be used to honor all the teams at a special awards dinner."

ROCHESTER'S TRAVELERS, pointing for their June 13 opener here, defeated Kasson 6-2 in exhibition play. What is more important to the local team is that Rochester has come up with what appears an ace in ex-University of Minnesota pitcher John Stephens.

Stephens, who compiled an 18-6 record in three years at Minnesota and has pitched the last two years for Class "A" Northern League member Aberdeen, gave up just three hits and one run in seven innings against Kasson.

The chucker is a native of Howard Lake, Minn.

UP IT GOES . . . Bill Squires, Winona High School's premier high jumper, pushes the bar up over six feet in practice for the Region One meet at Northfield Friday. Squires holds the school record of 6-2 and will be shooting at the regional record of that height. (Daily News Sports Photo)

LIGHTFOOTS WAY UP BATTING LADDER

Howard Gets Lead Out, Ups Average

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Frank Howard doesn't have lead in his feet any more. There isn't any in his bat either.

A National League veteran turned American League rookie, Howard continued his steady batting climb Wednesday night as the Washington Senators swept their fifth doubleheader of the season, most in the majors, by mauling the Los Angeles Angels 13-0 and 7-1.

The genial giant collected six hits in 10 at-bats, including two homers, and knocked in five runs as the Senators slipped ahead of the New York Yankees into eighth place in the AL.

His performance gave Howard the league lead in runs batted in with 39, a tie for the lead in home runs with 10 and a tie for the lead in hits with 57. He also raised his average 17 points to .302, putting him among the league's top 10 hitters.

Headed for possibly the best season in his six-year career, the 6-foot-7, 250-pound outfielder can attribute his torrid pace partly to five pounds of lead he carried around with him during spring training.

Howard, the biggest name in a seven-player deal between the Senators and the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter, reported to the Washington camp nearly 20 pounds overweight.

To combat this problem, Howard wore a 2 1/2-pound weight in each shoe not only in practice but in exhibition games as well.

In other AL games, Minnesota defeated Boston 6-3 and Baltimore trimmed Kansas City 6-4. Rain washed out Detroit at New York and Chicago at Cleveland.

Howard slammed two homers and a double for four RBI in the first game while Joe Cunningham drove in five runs with three hits, including a homer, all in support of Phil Ortega's five-hitter.

Howard's three singles in the nightcap increased his average against the Angels to .458 in six games. Ken McMullen slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and added two singles as Bennie Daniels and Ron Kline combined for a six-hitter.

Baltimore overcame a 3-0 Kansas City lead on Curt Blefary's two-run double and a two-run homer by Norm Siebern in the sixth inning. Dick Hall pitched the final four innings for the Orioles, limiting the Athletics to two hits, one of them Dick Green's ninth-inning homer.

TO COMPETE IN REGION ONE MEET FRIDAY

6-2 'Orbit' Would Satisfy Hawk Squires

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

While space buddies James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II are scheduled to whirl aloft between 100 and 185 miles, there is a 6-5 Winona high school senior who will be content with an orbit of approximately six feet, two inches.

Bill Squires, whose mighty three-year varsity career glows illustriously in the background, is eyeing a possible record tie in the Region One track meet to be run at Northfield Friday.

Squires, premier high jumper of the Winhawk team, is the lone Winonan who qualified for regional competition, placing first in District Three jumping competition.

His first-place leap of 5-9 was sub-standard for the holder of the school record. Conditions, however, were far less than ideal thanks to rain squalls.

In earlier meets he has been over 6-2 consistently. That happens to be the Region One record.

Right now Squires has set his goal at six feet. The record or a tie would be a bonus.

"I've been having trouble with my steps," he assesses. "Six feet probably will win it. It was good enough last year. I hope to go that high."

Squires already has beaten all other comers including Faribault's Paul Dragsten, Big Nine jumping king.

Squires, who packs a muscular 190 pounds on his 6-5 frame, rates as the best jumping prospect Gordy Addington has coached in his 12-year career.

"He's the top by far," he says. "In fact, right now I only know of a couple boys in the state who have jumped as well. Right now everything depends upon how he is going Friday. He went 6-0 yesterday in practice, but he has had some difficulty with his kick."

There is more phases than just Squires the high jumper, who improved from a 5-9 1/4 top a year ago to 5-11 3/4 in the first meet this year before stepping over 6-2.

Drysdale Withers Under Humid Weather, But Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Drysdale's dew point is higher than his winning percentage — but not much higher.

St. Louis humidity wilted the Los Angeles Dodgers' premier right-hander after six innings Wednesday night but didn't stop him from becoming the winning pitcher in the majors as the National League leaders cuffed the Cardinals 4-1.

Reliever Ron Perranoski nailed down Drysdale's ninth victory in 12 decisions with a scoreless three-inning stint after the Dodgers starter tired in 70 per cent humidity at Busch Stadium. The triumph, which launched a 11-game road trip for the Dodgers, boosted their league lead to four games — the highest margin they've had this season.

Cincinnati moved into second place, three percentage points ahead of San Francisco, by trimming Houston 5-2 in a game called after six innings because of rain. The rest of the schedule — New York at Chicago, San Francisco at Milwaukee and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh — was washed out.

Drysdale allowed five of the nine St. Louis hits, picking up his third straight victory and 150th since he broke in with the then-Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956. His nine victories this season top the Cardinals' Bob Gibson and Cincinnati's Sammy Ellis, the winner Wednesday night against Houston, by one.

Perranoski, unscathed upon in his last five appearances — spanning 9 1/3 innings, fanned the side in the seventh after yielding a leadoff double to Mike Shannon. A double play helped him out of a ninth-inning jam when the Cardinals bunched their last three hits but failed to score.

Tommy Harper's three-run double and homers by Gordy Coleman and Johnny Edwards gave Ellis all the help he needed in the rain-shortened Astros-Reds game.

The Astros playing without injured regulars Jim Wynn, Lee Maye and Eddie Kasko, clipped Ellis, 8-2, for two runs in the fourth. The first one scored on Pete Rose's throwing error, the other on Bob Lillis' single.

HE'S UP . . . Bill Squires exhibits his mid-air form as he goes through high jump paces in preparation for the Region One meet. The regional, and perhaps the state, will mark the conclusion of one of the top high school athletic careers. (Daily News Sports Photo) that prevents him from turning his head more than an inch or two. It has affected not only his hitting, but his throwing from the outfield.

Mickey didn't play Wednesday the game with Detroit we called off because of threatening weather, but he spent good part of the day undergoing heat treatments and special neck stretching and rubbing by club trainer Don Seger.

The injury occurred, Mantel said, while he was trying to break a bat in half after striking out for the fourth time in a game against the Red Sox May 18.

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — The heated modified auto battle between defending driving champion Dave Noble of Blooming Prairie and stock division upstart Maury Behnen of Rochester failed to materialize as Minnesota Speedways got its race season partially started here Wednesday night.

Noble pitched his 1935 Pontiac to first place in the modified heat race—three spots ahead of Behnen, who was fourth—and then took the rest of the evening off as heavy rain forced curtailment of the evening's program short of the feature.

THE SECOND modified heat race went to Bob Saldarolen of Rochester, with only a fifth-place finish by Duane Herold of Waumandee, Wis., breaking up the dominance of Rochester drivers.

Don Vincent and area drivers had a field day in the stock division:

Don Vincent and Ron Kahring of St. Charles ran one-two in the feature. David Pye of Lewiston was third. Arlie Hamman of St. Charles fifth and Walter Timm of Winona sixth.
